With the arrest of two Twin Falls men Tuesday night, Twin Falls Police officers recovered several items which were believed taken in recent burglaries. Among the articles recovered were these guns, stereos and a television set. For complete details, please turn to Page B1.

Farm Credit System looking for $6 billion

By DON KENDALL
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Congress was asked Wednesday for up to $6 billion to keep the Farm Credit System from toppling and taking thousands of farm borrowers along with it.

"Absent government financial assistance, the system cannot survive the radical transition under way in agriculture," Ray Moss Tucker, chairman of the Farm Credit Council, the system's lobbying arm, told the House Agriculture Committee.

"Our request for federal assistance today is one of the most difficult decisions which we have ever made as an organization, but frankly speaking, we have no other choice," Tucker testified.

Some members of the committee warmed to the idea, but others expressed skepticism and sought explanations of how the system got so deeply in trouble.

Rep. Jim Weaver, D-Ore., said the system isn't the only institution in financial trouble.

"I see a whole fleet of Titanics" out there," Weaver said. "If we start by bailing out the Farm Credit System, where does it stop?"

Recent financial reports have shown that the 37-bank system, the nation's largest farm lender with $70 billion in outstanding loans, has $13 billion in problem loans. The system suffered losses of $522 million in the third quarter of this year, and more losses are expected.

Donald E. Wilkinson, governor of the Farm Credit Administration, an independent federal agency that oversees the system, blamed its financial troubles on "a confluence of events and circumstances, many of which are beyond anyone's control." High interest rates, declining farm income and large drops in land values were cited.

"Any prospects for near-term improvement or even cessation in the unrelenting economic decline in agriculture have disappeared," Wilkinson said. "The most recent reports confirm further decreases in export markets and massive surplus production in 1985, practically ensuring low commodity prices for several years."

Many of the system's loans are for farm mortgages, and the collateral which supports those loans has eroded severely as farmland values dropped along with the profit potential of farming.

Wilkinson said that between 1981 and 1985, farm real estate values dropped about $151 billion, with more than $100 billion of it occurring in the past year. As a result, farmers had less collateral to back up loans to cover cash-flow problems.

"If land values should fall another 20 percent from January 1985 levels, within the next two to three years, FCA estimates that a cumulative total of $13 billion of system loans may become non-accrual (not collecting interest payments) by the end of 1987," Wilkinson said.

Based on past collateral recovery rates, that could result in $6 billion in write-offs in little more than two years from now, he said.

Farm bill restraints shot down

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The Republican-controlled Senate Wednesday narrowly defeated a Reagan administration-backed effort to clamp budget restraints onto the 1985 farm bill by gradually cutting farm income subsidies.

The lawmakers, on a 51-48 vote, killed an amendment of Sen. Richard Lugar, R-Ind., which would have replaced the four-year freeze on income guarantee levels now in the bill with a one-year freeze, to be followed by annual reductions of up to 5 percent.

"I'm encouraged the vote was as close as it was," said Senate Majority Leader Robert Dole, R-Kan., who supported Lugar. "It shows members on both sides want to get a bill that will not be vetoed."

The vote was the first test of strength for the Reagan administration during what promises to be a long Senate floor fight over the shape of future farm policy. The administration contends that the bill is at least $25 billion over Congress' budget allocation for farm programs and must be trimmed back if Reagan is to sign it.

Lugar had said the move would save $2.4 billion through fiscal 1988.

But Democrats argued that to reduce the income supports would punch holes in a farm safety net at a time when farmers are suffering their worst financial times in decades.

Ducks 'Star Wars' fight

House approves Pentagon freeze

By TIM AHERN
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The House voted 359-67 Wednesday to approve a bill freezing Pentagon spending after it avoided fights over money for "Star Wars" anti-missile research and new chemical weapons.

In the only major controversy, a closely divided House first voted to eliminate but later reversed itself and restored $1.7 billion to buy a dozen MX missiles, the nuclear weapon that has been the center of a long-running Capitol Hill fight.

The measure to delete the MX funds first passed on a 211-208 vote but was later defeated by a 214-210 margin.

Idaho's congressmen split their votes. Democrat Richard Stallings voted to eliminate the MX funds while Republican Larry Craig voted to retain them, useless to spend the money because the House has already voted to limit the future deployment of the weapon.

The House bill would appropriate most of a $292 billion Pentagon budget for the fiscal year that began Oct. 1. That is the same as the Defense Department won from Congress last year but is far under the $322 billion budget President Reagan originally proposed for the Pentagon this year.

Meanwhile, the Senate Appropriations defense subcommittee gave voice vote approval of its version of a Pentagon spending bill that would total $302 billion. The Senate measure includes $250 million more than the House for Star Wars and also provides money for chemical weapons.

While nerve gas was eliminated, thousands of other weapons remained, including:

- 840 M-1 tanks and 716 Bradley Fighting Vehicles.
- One Trident missile-firing submarine and four attack subs.
- 48 B-1 bombers; 84 Navy F-18 jets, 48 F-15 jets, 180 F-16s and 16 C-5B cargo planes.
- Three Aegis-class cruisers, three amphibious ships for the Marines and two Navy oilers.
- 12 MX nuclear missiles, 344 cruise missiles and 585 Patriot surface-to-air missiles.
- 144 Apache attack helicopters.

The House measure also includes $2.5 billion for the Strategic Defense Initiative. Reagan had sought $3.7 billion this year for SDI, compared to last year's budget of $1.4 billion.

Soviet writers quiz Reagan today

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — President Reagan, seizing an opportunity to explain his views directly to the Soviet people, will be questioned today by four journalists from Moscow in the first interview granted by an American president to the Soviet press in nearly a quarter of a century.

The session is "a unique and historic opportunity for the president to communicate directly with the people of the Soviet Union," said White House spokesman Larry Speakes. "We hope it is a sign of a new and more open information policy on the part of the Soviet Union."

No restrictions have been imposed on the Soviets' questions, although they are likely to focus on Reagan's summit Nov. 19-20 with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev in Geneva and superpower relations, Speakes said. He said the United States has not asked to review in advance what will be published.

"They will report it as they wish to report it," he said. Likewise, he said there was no requirement for the Soviets to publish the full text of the questions and answers.

The Soviet press will carry a complete text of the interview, said Alexander Shalnev, the Washington-based correspondent of the Soviet news agency Tass.

Legislators seek way to farm out services

By DEAN S. MILLER
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The British are coming again. But, this time they are leading a revolution, not trying to quell it.

Inspired by British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's decision to sell the British postal system to a private company, state Rep. Donna Scott, R-Twin Falls, and House Speaker Tom Stivers, R-Twin Falls, are looking for Idaho services that can be auctioned off to the private sector.

"She started with their postal department and they've just been attacking one entity after another," Scott said Wednesday.

Whether it is mental health care, janitorial service for state office buildings, or highway repairs, Scott said Wednesday, the state may be able to save money by "privatizing" state services. "My job is to make sure government makes efficient use of tax dollars," she said.

Squeezing more out of each dollar is important, with the state not expecting its tax revenues to grow in the coming years, said Scott. Those savings can be put to use in the state's education system and other areas that "do honestly need more money."

Scott and Stivers were introduced to the idea by the American Legislative Exchange Council (ALEC), a nationwide organization of conservative legislators which Stivers helped found. ALEC has published a book on Thatcher's revolution called "Dismantling the State," written by Madsen Pirie, president of the Adam Smith Institute in London.

Stivers said Wednesday ALEC has arranged a Northwest regional speaking tour for Pirie this winter so that he can preach

Wrestler, Elvira masks hottest items

The Associated Press

BOSTON — President Reagan and glitter rock stars are out, former President Nixon still is in, and Charlie Chaplin and E.T. are making comebacks.

But this year's hottest selling Halloween mask is a likeness of professional wrestler Hulk Hogan.

The queen of the costume rental business appears to be Elvira, the syndicated TV hostess dressed as a sexy vampire who introduces horror movies.

In the mask business, however, the massive star of the professional wrestling circuit who inspired a mania named after him is the top choice.

"He's alone in his greatness," said Carl Bertolino, assistant manager of Little Jack Horner Inc., one of the nation's largest costume shops. "We can't get enough of them."

Bertolino said that to meet last-minute demand, the company is now shipping the masks, made in France, by air to customers around the country.

The mask sells for $40 and includes a sweat band wrapped around it and long blond hair, large nose, mustache, bright teeth, bushy eye brows, big brown eyes and a dimple in the chin.

Bertolino said he did not have a body costume to go along with the mask, but that customers seem to feel they don't need the Hulk's 6-foot-8, 350-pound muscular physique.

"It's great when you see a little kid wearing this humongous mask," he said. "It's hysterical. The kid looks like a Munchkin character with a big head and a little body."

But this Halloween adults also are getting into the act.

"This year, everything is going," said Bertolino, whose wholesale and retail company has been doing business in downtown Boston for 51 years. "It's unbelievable! I've never seen anything like it in all the years we've been in the business."

As usual, said Bertolino, costumes having connections to popular movies, television shows and commercials are making money. The masks of E.T. ($50), Dr. Spock ($40), Mr. T ($25) and Charlie Chaplin ($25) are selling like hotcakes.

Causa planning for seminars in Idaho

IDAHO FALLS (AP) — An anti-communist group affiliated with the Unification Church, which has developed relationships with a number of Idaho lawmakers, plans to expand its operations in the state with an eye toward having two-day seminars each week in some cities.

Causa, founded by the Rev. Sun Myung Moon, head of the Unification Church, is working to set up meetings in November in Idaho Falls, said James Comey of Boise, director of the Unification Church in Idaho. The organization also will try to expand its base in Boise, Twin Falls, Pocatello, Nampa, Caldwell, Lewiston and Coeur d'Alene, he said.

Jose Ferrete, Washington, D.C., is in Idaho to develop Causa programs. He said he will be in the state at least until the end of December.

Earlier this year, Causa conducted all-expense-paid seminars in Los Angeles, Denver and Salt Lake City. More than 20 Idaho legislators attended at least one of the conferences, and Comey estimated that nearly 400 Idahoans have had some exposure to the sessions either through attendance or video tapes.

But Ferette said the reason for expansion here goes beyond a warm reception from Idahoans.

"Causa is growing all over the world," said Ferrete. "What we're doing in Idaho is being done in the United States."

Earlier this month, Causa held two seminars in Boise, discussing communist expansion, Marxist ideology, economic theories and confusion surrounding the Western value system.

Guru draws line at eating grits

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Jailed Indian guru Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh, accustomed to being waited on, is adapting to life behind bars and wearing prison clothes, but he drew the line Wednesday at eating grits, a Southern delicacy.

Rajneesh, arrested Monday after a flight from his 64,000-acre commune in Oregon, ate a breakfast of yogurt, toast and grapefruit juice Wednesday, said Sandra Carter, head of the medical unit at the jail where he is being kept.

The 53-year-old guru was arrested by federal and local authorities when two chartered jets landed here. He and six followers have been in jail awaiting a hearing today on whether to return them to Oregon to face charges.

Shuttle crew starts to work

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — History's largest space crew soared into orbit Wednesday aboard the shuttle Challenger and quickly activated a battery of experiments to start around-the-clock science studies on plants, animals, materials and human beings.

Five U.S. astronauts, two German scientists and a Dutch physicist aboard the 22nd flight of the shuttle sent power surging into a European-built space laboratory in Challenger's cargo bay and astronaut Bonnie Dunbar reported, "Everything is going pretty well."

Hurricane cost tops $1 billion

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — With damage estimated at $1 billion, Tropical Storm Juan stalled over southern Louisiana on Wednesday, bringing more rain and high tides to a region already awash with water up to the windows on houses in New Orleans suburbs.

At least seven people were killed and eight were missing. Thousands had fled their homes in coastal Louisiana and Mississippi and more were stranded by high water that began rising during the weekend when the storm suddenly mushroomed to hurricane strength over the Gulf of Mexico.

Second summit in the works

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union have begun "preliminary discussions" about setting up a second summit meeting between President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev, even as preparations proceed in both capitals for the first summit next month, an administration official disclosed Wednesday.

While no decision has been made, Secretary of State George P. Shultz intends to pursue the subject when he visits Moscow on Monday for talks with Gorbachev and Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard A. Shevardnadze, the official said.

The idea would be to make the Nov. 19-20 summit in Geneva "the start of a dialogue" between the two leaders, said the official, who insisted on anonymity. That, he said, has long been the U.S. intention and "in a preliminary way has been discussed with the Soviets."

Pancreas trouble for Mandia

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — A man who received a human heart after living for 11 days with the Penn State artificial heart has an inflamed pancreas, a potentially fatal condition, a medical spokesman said Wednesday.

Anthony Mandia, who underwent a heart transplant on Monday, was listed in critical condition and was downgraded from stable to unstable, according to Dr. John W. Burnside, a spokesman for Milton S. Hershey Medical Center.

Nearly 200 fires sear Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Nearly 200 fires broke out Wednesday despite increased efforts by the city and civilian volunteers to keep Devil's Night arsonists from celebrating another rite of destruction, the mayor said.

The 194 blazes, which were reported to police between 1 a.m. and 10 p.m., were down 28 percent from the 269 fires reported at the same time last year, said Mayor Coleman Young. An hour-by-hour breakdown was not available.

privatization to legislators in Boise, Salt Lake City, Sacramento, Salem, and Olympia.

For Jim Witherell, the Legislative Auditor's Office analyst assigned by Stivers to search for services to contract out, the project is in its infancy.

Witherell said in a Wednesday phone call that he doesn't know yet if the state can save money through privatization of penitentiaries or other large-scale operations. He and Stivers are still "brain-storming" for areas where the state might save money by privatization, Witherell said.

From the limited experience Idaho has had, he said, he has learned bureaucracy is not necessarily eliminated by privatizing services. The state still has to pay contract administrators to make sure the state is getting what it pays for from private firms. "The state is not terribly good at monitoring contracts now because it is not experienced," he said.

The state Department of Health and Welfare does contract out some services.

People seeking to adopt children are screened by private firms hired by the state, he said. Alcohol and drug abuse counseling is also handled for the state by private contractors.

Quality is not necessarily compromised when services are contracted out for a lower cost, he said. Witherell has heard that in urban areas in California the quality of garbage collection service and street repairs has improved in the hands of private companies.

Witherell thinks he can find some areas to save money because the state's fringe benefits package adds 25 percent to the cost of each state employee's salary, and private contractors may not have to pay people as much.

Stivers said Wednesday he, Scott and Assistant House Majority Leader Robert Geddes are not the only legislators looking for ways to privatize government services. Freshman Rep. Brent Brocksome, R-Boise, is also probing the budget.

Budget negotiators deadlock

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite renewed administration threats that "the government would have to close down," congressional negotiators deadlocked Wednesday night over a balanced-budget plan that has held up action on urgently needed legislation to increase the government's borrowing authority.

House barganers were left talking to each other after Senate negotiators left following several hours of sometimes-acrimonious discussion and arguments over who was more serious about cutting federal red ink.

Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Ore., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and chairman of the negotiations, said he was not adjourning the conference but that senators would not return to the talks until today.

At one point, Rep. Bill Frenzel, R-Minn., ridiculed the way the talks were going saying, "I think either we're going to have a conference or we're going to have a circus. So far, we've had a circus."

Earlier in the day, White House budget director James C. Miller III told reporters that Congress must act "by Friday or certainly over the weekend" to avoid further, costly fiscal disruptions for the government.

House Democrats said they would seek changes to increase the first-year impact of the Senate plan while exempting poverty programs from automatic spending cuts that might be triggered by the budget-cutting proposal.

Senate Republicans have indicated they will resist such changes.

AT&T averts Friday strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — A union representing 50,000 American Telephone & Telegraph Co. workers Wednesday called off a nationwide strike planned for Friday after the company agreed to provide more information on subcontracting of technical and clerical jobs.

But the company still planned to go ahead with Friday's scheduled layoff of 2,800 workers who are members of the Communications Workers of America, said company spokesman Herb Linnen.

Navy helicopter crash kills 3 aboard

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — A Navy helicopter used for search and rescue missions crashed Wednesday east of here while on a training mission, killing three Navy crew members and injuring three others, authorities said.

The UH-1N helicopter crashed about midafternoon on Mustang Island between Corpus Christi and Port Aransas, said Ensign Terry Reese, public affairs officer for the Corpus Christi Naval Air Station.

The names of the victims were withheld pending notification of relatives.

The three survivors were taken to the base hospital.

Contractor pleads guilty to overcharge

DALLAS (AP) — Rockwell International Corp., the nation's second-largest defense contractor, pleaded guilty Wednesday to federal charges that six of its employees filed falsified time cards leading to overcharges on an Air Force contract.

Investigations by the company and the Justice Department failed to find any evidence that company managers participated in the offenses or knew about them, Rockwell spokesman Jim Vallela said.

In addition to a possible maximum fine of $200,000, Rockwell agreed to pay $1 million in a settlement for double the amount of mischarges and the government's investigation costs.

The guilty plea was entered to a federal information filed in U.S. District Court in Dallas Wednesday. No individuals were named in the charges, but Vallela said six employees were involved. Vallella said he did not know the workers' motives.

Sentencing was set for Dec. 13.

The government charged that the employees falsified 20 time cards from April to June 1982. The bogus work was charged to a $1.3 million, fixed-price contract by Rockwell's former Collins Communications Systems Division plant in Dallas, Vallela said.

Mall shooting takes 2 lives

SPRINGFIELD, Pa. (AP) — A woman in army fatigues and black boots opened fire with a semiautomatic rifle in a crowded shopping mall Wednesday, killing two people and wounding eight others before she was subdued by a passerby, police said.

Sylvia Seegrist, 25, was taken into custody following the 4 p.m. shooting rampage at the Springfield Mall in Delaware County, said Police Chief George Hill. Police then closed the shopping center.

"Hurry up, man, you know I'm guilty. Kill me on the spot," she told District Justice Joseph L. DiPietro as she was arraigned on charges of murder, attempted murder, aggravated assault, possession of an instrument of crime and possession of an unregistered firearm.

According to Hill, Ms. Seegrist got out of her car at an entrance to the mall and began shooting the .22-caliber rifle at a woman using an automatic bank machine, but missed her.

Practice will make straight shooters

Modern technology, which has often been seen as rendering the infantryman obsolete, is now being called upon by the Army to help its soldiers shoot straight.

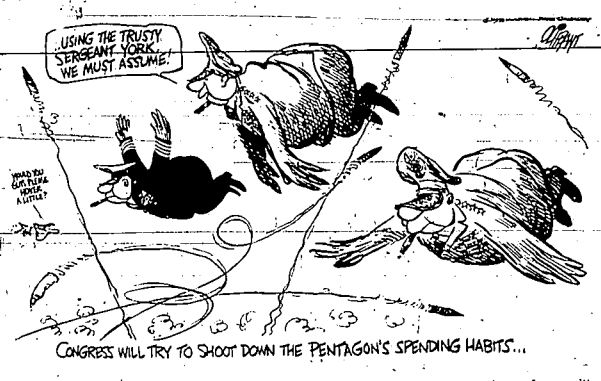
The Army wants a rifle that would compensate for poor marksmanship in the stress of battle. One concept being considered is for a weapon which would not only fire short bursts but would automatically create a tight pattern of shots. As the Army put it in its own language, "a controlled dispersion pattern that can be used to compensate for large aiming errors."

It's not a bad idea, really. But until such a weapon is in the hands of the troops — and is reliable enough to work properly under combat conditions — there are a couple of things that the Army could do to remedy the problem.

First, get the troops out on the rifle range for frequent practice with their assigned weapons. Once proficient there, provide plenty of training on what used to be known as combat courses so that accurate aiming and firing under almost any conditions are matters of reflex action.

A soldier who is a poor shot, even though armed with the world's most accurate weapon, is still a poor shot. Fortunately, bad marksmanship can be improved at much less cost than a completely new weapons system.

Deficit reduction bill malodorous hash



James Kilpatrick

WASHINGTON — One of the most familiar exhortations in American life is the cry of the frustrated wife or husband when everything seems to be going wrong: "Don't just sit there! Do something!"

Acting on that precipitate command, Congress appears to be on the verge of enacting what Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., calls "the dumbest piece of legislation" he has seen in his 15 years on the Hill.

Aspin is too gentle. The pending deficit reduction bill is monumentally stupid; it probably is unconstitutional; if it can be made to work at all, it will work gross inequities; and its potential impact upon national defense, as Aspin made clear a few days ago in an open letter to the secretary of defense, is nothing short of catastrophic.

It is incredible that 75 members of the Senate, the president of the United States and the speaker of the House — among others whose sanity is assumed but not always proven — should have swallowed this dish of legislative hash. Swallowed it? The verb is inadequate. Eyes closed, nostrils pinched, the Senate on Oct. 9 gulped it down.

"We can no longer do nothing!" cried Kennedy of Massachusetts. So the Senate did something.

It passed a bill that mandates these beautiful achievements: in fiscal '86, a deficit of no more that $180 billion; in 1987, a deficit of $144 billion; in 1988, a deficit of $108 billion; and so by annual increments to a promised land in fiscal '91, when the deficit would be a breathtaking zero.

Anyone who believes these fairy tales will believe the moon is made of cheddar cheese. Such believers should not be permitted to cross the streets without their nannies. These budgetary goals are firmly carved from cotton candy. It is sufficiently difficult to forecast income and outlay one or two years ahead; it is impossible to make reliable estimates six years ahead.

For the past three weeks, nine Senate conferees and 18 House conferees have been struggling to rewrite the bill. Heaven knows the bill needs it. In its original form, the bill would have surrendered vast powers to the president to cut spending across the board.

These powers would have been triggered not by congressional direction, but by bureaucratic conjecture: The Office of Management and Budget and the Congressional Budget Office would predict income and outgo; if their estimated deficits were more than 5 percent higher than the mandated goals, all kinds of drastic things would have to happen.

In his open letter, Aspin touched on only a few of these drastic things as they affect defense. A cut of 10 percent in the fourth year, he said, "could force the firing of almost one-third of all those in uniform." Willy-nilly, the president would have to dismiss 674,000 of the 2,150,000 persons in the armed forces.

Because of the mysterious mechanisms built into the bill, ship construction could be cut by more than half. Army engineers, facing a 10 percent cut, could not decide to build 90 dams instead of 100 dams; they would have to build 90 percent of all 100.

The pending bill qualifies as one of the most radical proposals ever seriously advanced on Capitol Hill. It had not one hour of committee hearings prior to consideration on the floor. No analyses of the consequences ever were examined. Up until the moment of passage in the Senate, amendments of major significance were being adopted. It is a fair statement that no member of the Senate can assert with conviction that he knows what the bill would do to current contracts, to farm price supports, to Medicaid.

All that is vaguely understood is that some programs face automatic reductions, some face discretionary reductions, and some (notably Social Security adjustments) face no reductions. Cuts must be made equally item by item, the same percentage applying to subsidies for artists and to the budget of the FBI.

The best that can be said of this reckless and irresponsible legislation is that the next Congress will be free to repeal it. Because its main provisions would not become effective until 1987, little damage may be done.

Granted, something must be done about the deficits, but this bill isn't it.

James J. Kilpatrick writes his column, "A Conservative View," from Washington.

Dedication to city proven

May I offer an opinion on a very important choice the voters of Twin Falls are about to make?

I have had the privilege of serving on several committees with Councilmember Mary McClusky.

This includes nine years on the Idaho Youth Ranch Board of Directors, including two years with Mary McClusky as chairperson. Mary McClusky proved to be a very efficient and extremely intelligent board member and chairperson.

She is a very caring and dedicated person to whatever task she may be assigned. When she headed a committee, she always accomplished the goal. If she didn't know the answers, she always searched until she found them.

Mary is well liked and respected by the 18 boardmembers. She has served youth, the handicapped and senior citizens with the same caring and devotion.

Mary McClusky has the time and has proved her dedication to the city of Twin Falls time and time again.

Mary served as vice mayor under former mayor Chris Talkington. In his absence she again proved herself as a dedicated and efficient leader.

I feel Mary McClusky has been used and abused the past four years. However, Mary is not easily discouraged. Again she has proved her dedication to the city by declaring her candidacy for council for another term.

Voters of Twin Falls, what more could you ask for?

Hoped for better TV fare

I had hoped that KMVT, with its high hopes and better facilities would improve, rather than lower the quality of its programs. Not so. The show this week that forced discrimination in school was worse than sick.

If the writer meant to infer that such conditions existed prior to the havoc wrought by M.L. King, he was either ignorant or mean. All of us who lived during King's marches of terror know that his training for such was through a Communist institution. Those who didn't know were people who felt secure in the little knowledge they had and wore to full of anger or apathy to learn otherwise.

That show did nothing but encourage terrorism; in fact Communism. There was a man; one man, in a classroom who took it upon himself to forcefully separate into groups, then forbid association with others not in their group. This placed people in one group who felt ill-at-ease because they were isolated with others from a different level, both from a cultural, financial, as well perhaps a moral level. Water seeks its own level and it is when this natural thing is meddled with that trouble begins.

I was reared in a middle-class home which, by today's standards, would be classed as underprivileged. The government had not told us that so we were quite happy, honest and hard-working people. I was free to associate with other children whom I liked and who seemingly liked me; who were in a better financial spot than I was. By nature and by choice I found I chose my friends from among those on my own level, both financially and morally.

This condition would exist, and discrimination in the hearts of people would remain, if the world was forced to live under the same roof. During God's leading the Israelites through Moses, discrimination was practiced by his orders. Our savior never prayed for or died for unity, excepting through himself, not the whole world.

Through taxation our government has decided to force all workers in the USA, both Atheist and Christian to finance what they call charity toward all the Earth's people. The gift is not charity. Charity, according to Cor. 13 is what must prompt a gift or there will be no profit in it. Look what our efforts have gained. Nothing but mistrust, anger and hatred for our nation.

No human should have the power to tell a nation of individuals whom they should choose to associate with. The Bible directs us as individuals. No teacher should be allowed to force any moral standard upon any child unless God is allowed in the school room. Without God there is no basis for good, so there is little wonder that the children have looked at the inconsistency and chosen to populate the universe with illigitimates, dope users and drunks. They are forced to employ standards which came only from God but are not allowed to pray to him or read about him in the classroom. Yet, to please him, of who they must be quiet, they are to practice equality with any and all.

A herd of swine has no manners, no respect for another herd. Even though a pig can be trained it still will eat and fight at the feed trough with any kind of pig that comes along. It has not the intelligence to discriminate. Why? It has not the ability to recognize God; knows nothing about him.

This group of hogs, just like our children, can be herded, forced to go where ordered, but unless the children have been given a reason why, we should not expect more of them than we would the swine herd. God is why. Discrimination is natural. I read the book of Prov. and wondered where we ever came up with opposition to discrimination. It is evident that the media, our leaders and most everyone with authority stays willing to will under pressure and so we have this sick garbage to mar the TV screen.

Thanks to cabbie, not police

I am not the type to complain, but I have never been so angry in my life.

It all started Saturday night, Oct. 26, when I was driving a friend's pickup home for him. I got to North Five Points when it stalled. I couldn't get it restarted and it was blocking traffic at midnight.

After about 10 minutes a checkered cab pulled up behind me and offered to help. This gentleman had a fare with him, and he still offered to help. While we were standing by the truck trying to figure out what to do a Twin Falls police supervisor car drove past us on Shoshone. Now I know he saw us because instead of just one truck holding up traffic, there was also a cab. But he didn't even stop. He just continued on down the road. Well, these two gentlemen helped me push the truck into the shoe store parking lot.

What I don't understand is what happened to the "serve" in "protect & serve"?

I am originally from Portland, Ore., where if a policeman sees a disabled car, he stops to be of assistance. Now Portland is a much larger town than Twin Falls and the — policemen there make the time to stop — why not here?

I wish to truly thank the cab driver and his fare for helping and the woman who offered me a ride. Thank you.

I moved here a little over a year ago mainly because the people here are so friendly to strangers. I just wish the policeman had been just as friendly as the rest of the people here.

Opposes loans to enemies

Some comments on pending legislation, to wit; S-812, sponsored by Senators Jake Garn, R-Utah, chairman of the banking committee, and William Proxmire, D-Wis., ranking minority member. S-812 would amend the Export Administration Act of 1979 to allow the president to halt loans by U.S. banks to countries that pose a potential threat to the United States.

Garn introduced S-812 last April after learning that U.S. banks sponsored a $500 million loan to East Germany. Since then U.S. banks have been involved in lending another $600 million to East Germany and $200 million to Russia.

Howard J. Ruff, chairman of Free the Eagle, in his testimony to the banking committee said, "It seems sheer insanity for the United States to permit U.S. banks to loan money to the Soviet Union. Such loans allow them to direct their own resources into nuclear missiles aimed at American and European cities."

Opinions differ as to how much of a military threat the Russians are with their inefficient bureaucratic system. Opinions are unanimous, however, as to what high interest rates are doing to our system.

Jake Garn states it nicely: "I cannot understand how U.S. banks can charge America's enemies such low interest (7 to 9 percent) while American farmers or first-time home buyers could not receive anything even close to that rate." Millions in low interest, long range loans to Communists, but not one cent available for hard pressed Americans. As the old Basque said, "It make a me a disgust."

McClure, Symms and Craig will support this bill. It will be interesting to know how Evans and Stallings feel about it.

China conditions inhuman

Our nation's betrayal of the Shah of Iran led to the collapse of a solidly pro-American government. A gang of violent anti-American fanatics now rule Iran, with results that have been devastating to the United States and her allies.

A similar comparison with the role America's mass media and some of its leaders played in the downfall of the Somoza regime in Nicaragua, and the devastating effects of the solid Communist foothold in Central America which resulted from this betrayal are now obvious even to the bleeding hearts who applauded when Somoza fell.

The massive campaign against South Africa amounts to an incredible hypocrisy when viewed in contrast to the headlong rush to increase trade, to transfer military and nuclear technology, and even to provide military training to the Red Chinese regime.

Control of Red China is today maintained with the same methods of terror and brainwashing used to establish Communist control a few decades ago. Human rights are nonexistent, and Red China's rulers presently practice infanticide (murder of newborn babies) and forced abortions on a massive scale. The fact that most of the American media and many of our leaders prefer to ignore the inhuman conditions in China and focus on the destruction of America's strategic ally, South Africa, should cause feelings of revulsion in many Americans.

'A price money can't pay'

I would like of thank K. Ellen Baxter, Judge Daniel Meehl and the public for putting my husband, Richard Allen Lee, away for 14 years.

Now Rick and I will never have the chance to have a family. I will never be able to give birth to a child and give that child the love a woman dreams of.

I am now going to lose everything Rick and I worked so hard for. We have only been married seven short months. The last two months I haven't even been able to touch him. All I have left is my health and sanity, and I'm not too sure about that.

My husband is an alcoholic and he needed treatment, not to be locked away half his life. If he would have been an epileptic and not an alcoholic, the public would have looked at his accident in a different way. Alcoholism is a disease and should be treated as such.

The state should have been punished as well as Rick, after all, they are the ones who sell all those liquor licenses and say it's OK to drink, then turn around and punish the — ones who drink that liquor. Now there's a new winery opening.

I just like to say to all the alcoholics and people out there who drink — stop and get help before it's too late.

I would not like to see anybody go through what Rick and I are going through. It is no fun — believe me.

You may think this sort of thing could never happen to you, but it can. Rick and I used to think the same thing and look where it got us. Do you want this to happen to you?

If you do go out drinking, let a friend drive or call a taxi. The price you pay for a taxi sure beats the price you pay if you are in an accident or pulled over for a DUI. It's a hell of a price. A price that money can't pay.

Please think before you get behind the wheel. It will save you a lot of pain and agony in the long run.

Work together on education

A sad but true fact about drug abuse is that most of us tend to hide our heads in the sand and ignore the truth about how many people, both adults and children, are using and abusing drugs and/or alcohol right here in this community.

We hear the expression a lot that "We don't have a problem." Maybe you don't have any one in your immediate family who is an abuser, but the moment you step outside your home; on the highway, in school, at work, you are faced with the problem and the dangers of drug and alcohol abuse.

When it involves your safety, your children's future or the production or effectiveness of your work (whether your fault or not), it becomes your problem.

The recent expose of the alcohol and marijuana breakfast involving about 60 Twin Falls High School students simply proves that we have a problem in this community. The school administrators found themselves in a situation where they could no longer "hide their heads in the sand" and were forced to take some action. Those actions irritated the parents of some of the non-involved students.

Was the party really a surprise to the school administrators? Where were the parents of the non-involved students over the past two years, while we have been trying to get educational programs on drug abuse started in Magic Valley? And for the parents of the involved students, hey — it's 7:30 a.m. in the morning! Parents, do you know where your child is? Or do you really give a damn?

It is always easy to blame someone else, and that is only natural. I certainly do not have all the answers, nor am I blameless. But I do think there is no better time than the present for all of us to take a look at the problem together. Let's examine a few facts:

1. No one in particular is to blame. But none of us are really living up to our responsibilities.

2. The drug and alcohol business is big business and is extremely hard to fight when it is so socially accepted.

3. Peer pressure among students (and adults as well) influence people to try things that one knows he shouldn't.

I don't have all the answers, but I do have one — education.

Let's start by educating the children about the hazards of using and abusing drugs and alcohol. Let's educate the parents and employers on how to recognize signs when their child or employee might start using or abusing drugs or alcohol. Let's teach the kids the skills on how to make intelligent decisions when approached with temptations that are not in their best interests. Let's create a peer group that says "It's O.K. to say no to drugs and alcohol."

We, in the Lions Club of Twin Falls have educational programs available for groups to help inform and educate parents, students, educators, community leaders and law enforcement personnel. Isn't it about time we all start working together?

Dealer ties papyrus, bomb suspect

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A fragment of Egyptian papyrus seized by police during a search of the home of Mark Hofmann, the chief suspect in two fatal bombings, is likely one sold to him in September, a Massachusetts rare documents dealer says.

Hofmann remained uncharged and in satisfactory condition at LDS Hospital Wednesday, where he is recovering from injuries sustained when a bomb blew up in his sports car on Oct. 16 — the day after two other explosions killed Steven F. Christensen and Kathy Sheets, the wife of a Christensen associate, Gary Sheets.

Police have said they believe the third blast, the one in which Hofmann was hurt, was accidental — unlike the first two.

Kenneth Rendell, of Newton, Mass., best known for his work in debunking the forged Hitler Diaries in 1983, said he had received a photocopy of one of the papyri confiscated by police and had identified the object as a part of material he sold to Hofmann.

In Wednesday's editions of the Deseret News, Rendell also said the fact the papyrus apparently was cut into smaller pieces indicated that it was intended for misuse.

"The removal of the drawing from the larger piece of papyrus is further indication of fraudulent intent," he said. "There is no legitimate reason for cutting up that papyrus."

Mormon Church officials have confirmed Hofmann sold them some 40 documents relating to the faith's history over the past several years, and it is Hofmann's trade in such rare items that investigators have focused on since the bombings.

Meantime, law enforcement officials said it could be at least Friday before a decision is made on exactly what charges to file against Hofmann. Authorities are awaiting the results of tests on evidence being conducted at the U.S. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms' forensic laboratory in San Francisco.

Former Order member tells of threat on life

SEATTLE (AP) — A former member of The Order testified Wednesday that he was told, "If you screw up, you're dead," after he was enticed to teach survival tactics to members of the Nazi-like group.

Jackie Lee Norto, 29, of West Plains, Mo., said he met several people who wound up in The Order when he lived at the Covenant, the Sword and the Arm of the Lord, a right-wing Christian community in Arkansas.

Norton said he joined The Order at the invitation of Randall Rader, who had been in charge of survival training at CSA. Rader made the suggestion after visiting Washington state, where Order founder Robert Mathews lived.

"I was impressed that the job offer was legitimate," Norton said. "I was offered a job in survival training."

Norton said her received a voice-stress analyzer test, bolstering the government's claim that such tests were administered to Order members as an internal security measure.

Mine fire probe team ready to go

ORANGEVILLE, Utah (AP) — With the recovery of 27 victims of the Wilberg Mine fire imminent, investigators are ready to sift through tons of coal and examine dozens of pieces of mine equipment to determine whether arson or accident caused the blaze.

The bodies of 26 men and one woman have been entombed in a mile-deep section in the central Utah coal mine ever since a blaze erupted in the 1st North main tunnel on Dec. 19, 1984. Three days later, the fire had spread so far officials evacuated rescue crews and sealed the bodies inside.

Those who don't live around the Great Lakes are surprised to learn that ships on Lake Superior are oftentimes out of sight of land for 30 hours at a stretch.

Earliest of the civilized laws were in Babylon's ancient Code of Hammurabi. Example: "If a married woman shall be caught lying with another man, both shall be bound and thrown into the river."

SMALLEST

Q What's the smallest thing in the world?

A The neutrino. The proton is bigger. So is the electron. The neutrino is said to be the nearest thing to nothing known.

That Lady Godiva rode nude on a white horse through the streets of Coventry makes an excellent story. It's understandable, I think, that nobody pays attention to the female archivists in Great Britain who claim the records show Lady Godiva was not nude but merely "stripped of all signs of her rank." We do not need archivists like that.

COW TEETH

Note it stated in print that scientists in Spain have found "a new way" to boost milk production — by filling older cows with false teeth so they can eat more grass. Interesting. But not new. It was decades ago that a Wyoming dentist invented stainless steel teeth for cows.

Latest reports indicate the French trains have now overtaken the Japanese trains as the world's fastest. Japanese at best, 112.3 mph. French at best, 134 mph.

Daily Horoscope

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Women will be more helpful to you in gaining your desired objective than men today, especially in any matters that involve public relations. Avoid bizarre persons today.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You want to make some drastic changes, but this would only bring bizarre persons into your life, so hold on to the tried and true.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You may be financially worried and feel like doingsomething drastic, but don't, or you get into deeper trouble.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You want to get off to new places and people to improve your luck, but could make a mistake, so listen to advice of friends.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You think you have to do your work differently to get good results, but the only thing needed is to be more businesslike.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Forget strange kinds of amusements you know little about and be with persons of wealth and character.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have to be persevering in the business world if you are to be successful and not permit kin to interfere.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have made new contacts lately, but it is best you concentrate on those you know are successful and not those who are visionary.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) In practical affairs listen to advice of family ties regarding more activity in the business world.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Your outside associates give fine ideas for making your talents pay off more handsomely now.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Try to get your surroundings more charming early and then get to work with vim and vigor.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Plan recreation for the evening since later there is much routine work to do. Get the OK from your mate for a social event.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Get some new activity going on at home in the morning, and then make your surroundings far more charming.

Home school pupils deny truancy before court

CALDWELL (AP) — Eight Wilder-area children who attend home schools run by their parents denied they were habitual truants from public school in an appearance before a 3rd District magistrate, their parents said.

"They are going to a state-approved school," Virginia Waters said of her three boys on Tuesday. "They are enrolled at the Free Christian School of New Plymouth, and it allows home teaching."

The school-age children of Jim and Virginia Waters and Walter Bayes were brought before 3rd District Magistrate Milton Birnbaum after the Wilder School Board declared them habitual truants Sept. 9. The children will appear in court again at an evidentiary hearing, but no date has been set for that appearance.

Idaho law requires parents to send all children from 7 to 16 years of age to school or educate them at home in an approved program.

The Waters said no existing statewide policy would give them a standard to measure their home school.

"They say a comparable education," Mrs. Waters said. "What do you compare it by?"

Bayes said he felt the case should have been thrown out of court. Because no standards exist that explain what a comparable education is, each school board is allowed to make its own determination.

"I don't feel like they've got a leg to stand on," Bayes said. "I think the school board will have to do something or the law will have to be declared unconstitutional."

The Bayes children study five to six days a week and take an Iowa standard achievement test twice a year, he said. Bayes said the Wilder School Board has refused to release high and low scores of Wilder students to use as a standard.

"I won't turn over my records because they won't tell me what's comparable," Bayes said.

Inmate transfer under study

BOISE (AP) — You could get the impression inmates in the Shoshone and Kootenai county jails don't like their living conditions.

Six inmates this week filed a U.S. District Court lawsuit here, alleging their civil rights are being violated by conditions at the two county jails.

In fact the inmates had so many requests for changes that they filled nine closely typed pages.

Inmates Richard Ormsey, Richard Baker, James Hicks, John Biggs, Keith Gilbert and Gary Anderson signed the complaint in July, but it was not filed with federal court in Boise until this week.

U.S. District Judge Harold Ryan ruled the suit could be filed, but dismissed as defendants several employees of the two counties such as jailers and deputies.

The six jail inmates claim they are being held in unsanitary conditions, that they are not provided enough legal help and access to the courts and the jails are "hot, airless" facilities that are unhealthy.

State, Indians launch water negotiations

BOISE (AP) — Amid mutual agreement that negotiation was preferrable to litigation, talks opened Wednesday at the Statehouse in Boise over reserved Indian water rights in eastern Idaho.

Representatives of the Shoshone-Bannock Tribes met with officials of the state Department of Water Resources to begin sessions that could last up to a year. The first session was devoted mainly to ironing out procedures to be used.

Idaho plans to sort out all Snake River water rights in southern Idaho, a process that could take up to 10 years and cost $27 million. Indians claim water rights under treaties dating back to 1868, rights upheld in a 1908 U.S. Supreme Court decision, Waters versus the United States.

The Legislature passed a resolution encouraging negotiations with the Indians before Snake River water adjudication starts.

Under an agreement signed between Indian and state leaders in August, court proceedings will be delayed during the Indian negotiations.

The agreement to negotiate expires Jan. 10 unless it is extended.

Judge grants tax allowance

BOISE (AP) — Autoclaving is a manufacturing process, not a mining process, a federal judge here has ruled.

U.S. District Judge Harold Ryan on Tuesday awarded Sunshine Mining Co. a $80,135 depletion allowance toward its federal tax return for 1976. Sunshine, which merged with the old Silver Dollar Mining Co., also is entitled to Silver Dollar's allowance of $13,363.

The company in 1982 filed a lawsuit over its 1975 federal taxes. The dispute centered around a 22 percent depletion allowance for Sunshine's production of antimony, a byproduct of lead and silver production.

Sunshine, which operates the Sunshine Mine in Shoshone County, has its headquarters at Dallas.

North Idaho jail inmates charge conditions violate rights

CALDWELL (AP) — Canyon County and state prison officials are considering housing low-risk Idaho penitentiary inmates at the county jail to help alleviate overcrowding in state prison facilities.

Corrections Department Director Al Murphy told Commissioners Joyce Chase and Glenn Koch Tuesday that Sheriff Bill Anderson's offer to take low-risk prisoners might prove helpful in the next few months.

The state Corrections Board has placed a 1,300-prisoner cap on the state prison population, and Murphy said that figure could be reached as early as mid-December.

Anderson, who earlier this year launched a prisoner work project, said he is interested in providing space for non-violent prisoners who are sent to penitentiary for 120 days before judges make a final determination of their punishment.

Commissioners and Murphy agreed to allow representatives from both agencies to study the cost and space available.

Reagan gains NATO support

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — NATO is fully behind President Reagan as he prepares for his November summit with Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev, defense ministers of the NATO countries said Wednesday.

They also declared NATO's backing for the U.S. position at the Geneva arms talks.

Caspar W. Weinberger, the U.S. defense secretary, told reporters later he was "absolutely delighted" with what he called unqualified support for the American stance in arms control negotiations with the Soviets and the U.S. approach to the Nov. 19-20 summit.

The ministers from 13 NATO nations, ending two days of talks at North Atlantic Treaty Organization headquarters, also cited U.S. charges that the Soviet Union is violating arms control accords in urging Moscow to abandon a "double standard" of treaty compliance.

They stopped short of joining the United States in explicitly accusing the Soviets of treaty violations. But they implied that the usefulness of any future arms control agreements would be undermined if the Soviets breached the treaties while insisting the United States fully comply with them.

In the final ministerial-level NATO meeting before the Reagan-Gorbachev summit, the defense chiefs said, "We declare that the president goes to Geneva with the full support and solidarity of the alliance."

Leftist militia frees 3 Soviets

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Three of the four Soviet embassy staffers kidnapped by gunmen 30 days ago were freed Wednesday night in Moslem West Beirut, Soviet and leftist militia officials said.

The bullet-riddled body of the fourth was found Sept. 30 on a garbage dump in South Beirut, two days after the group's abduction by members of the hitherto unknown Islamic Liberation Organization.

"They're all free and in relatively good condition," said a Soviet embassy spokesman.

National Party victor

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — The National Party won three parliamentary races Wednesday and lost a fourth to ultra-rightists in special elections seen as a gauge of white feeling about the government's reform measures.

Results were not in from the fifth election, in the conservative northern Cape Province farming community of Vryburg.

The white-minority government led by President P. W. Botha and the National Party was hoping the mid-term elections would show that whites support its limited moves away from the racial segregation system of apartheid after 14 months of black riots and a deepening economic crisis.

Meanwhile, police said at least seven blacks were killed Wednesday and late Tuesday in violence believed linked to unrest against apartheid, South Africa's system of enforced racial separation.

In Sasolburg, a conservative town south of Johannesburg, an ultra-right candidate, Louis Stofberg of the Reformed National Party, defeated the National Party candidate by 367 votes out of nearly 13,000 cast.

Stofberg's victory was the first parliamentary seat won by his party since it broke from the National Party 16 years ago when the Nationalists suggested allowing racial integration on the country's athletic fields.

7 of 8 counties back juvenile detention plan

By PAT MARCANTONIO
Times-News writer

JEROME — A group of Jerome investors is steaming ahead with its plan for a $250,000 regional juvenile detention facility, after receiving a letter of support from seven out of the eight Magic Valley counties.

The state Department of Health and Welfare, meanwhile, is taking a "wait and see" attitude about the project.

The commissioners of Blaine and Minidoka counties voted Monday to sign a letter which says they support the project and may use the facility once it's built, said John Rasco, a spokesman for the investors.

Chuck Corwin, an assistant to the Blaine County Commissioners, said the letter doesn't commit the county to anything. But the commissioners decided to sign it because "we certainly don't have any better ideas" about housing juveniles, Corwin said.

With the exception of Cassia County, the commissioners of the other counties in the Magic Valley have signed the letter, Rasco said. Minidoka and Blaine counties were the last to sign.

Cassia County officials previously rejected the proposal, saying they wanted to look for less-costly alternatives than the one offered by the Regional Youth Facility group.

The investors plan on charging $50 to house a juvenile 24 hours and $25 for less than 24 hours. Their proposal calls for a 20-bed facility in Jerome County.

With support from the counties, the next step is to complete the purchase of a residence-type structure, which will be remodeled into a secure juvenile facility, Rasco said. Materials also will be gathered and ordered, such as cell doors.

The investors will call a news conference soon to "let you know what we are doing," Rasco said. The names of the other investors have been kept confidential.

Another entity interested in the plan, but not committed, is the state Department of Health and Welfare, which is responsible for caring for juvenile offenders.

Rasco met with three regional department representatives Monday. He explained his proposal and answered their questions.

"From our standpoint, we were curious more than anything else," said Al Miller, a DHW social services supervisor who met with Rasco.

The department occasionally sends youths to the juvenile detention facility in Ada County when they can't be housed in group or foster homes here, Miller said.

Before the department can use the proposed facility, the operation must meet certain standards similar to the ones group and foster homes must meet, Miller added. The question is in which category would the proposed facility fall and what regulations would it be required to meet. Another department staff member is researching that.

Rasco said the proposed facility would receive referrals only from the courts and law enforcement, not from private individuals.

The investors want to build such a detention center in response to a state law which prevents counties from holding juveniles in county jails who have committed status offenses, such as running away, Rasco said earlier.

Hearing on bipartisan tax reform bill draws support

By DEAN S. MILLER
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The Idaho Economic Recovery Act of 1986 was supported by 13 of 21 speakers at a public hearing in Twin Falls Wednesday night.

Four speakers strongly opposed the bill, while the remaining four expressed no strong opinion either way.

"A rose by any other name is still a rose . . . these two proposals are tax increases and we don't want to disguise them," Rep. Tim Tucker, D-Portbill, told an audience of about 45 persons at the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Auditorium.

Tucker is a sponsor of the bill along with fellow Democrat Larry Echohawk of Pocatello and Republicans Don Loveland of Boise and Ed Brown of Pocatello.

Their plan calls for increased sales taxes, local option sales and use taxes, relaxation of the property tax levy limit, and increased spending on education.

Sen. Laird Noh, R-Kimberly, who took no stand on the bill itself, praised the bipartisan effort of the group and urged Governor John Evans and the legislative leadership to follow their example. "This is not a time for a lot of blamesmanship," Noh said.

Nolan Victor of Twin Falls said added taxation is not healthy for the economy. "I think we've got a problem and that problem has been created by the National Education Association and the Idaho Education Association."

Victor said teacher unionization should be prohibited. He said the formation of the State Tax Commission puts taxing control in Boise where the IEA can control it out of sight of citizens. "We're facing some dire economic conditions," and have to tighten our belts while we have a belt to tighten, Victor said.

Twin Falls attorney John Rosholt said he thinks Idaho has a future and that his 19 years as a "parasite" in the Idaho education system were a good investment for the state considering the taxes he now pays. Rosholt said he is willing to "help out" if the legislators want to increase taxes.

"Everyone wants to be the prince of darkness . . . if 20 years ago we'd hired that prince of darkness instead of Doc Taylor, (first president of the College of Southern Idaho) we'd be holding this meeting under a streetlight," Rosholt said.

Twin Falls Public Library librarian Arlan Call praised the portion of the bill that would allow local option taxes. He said it gives libraries and other services the chance to win voter support. "Put the oar in our hands and if we need the oar we'll pull," he said.

Boise State University Vocational-Technical Dean Tom Dennison said the need for vocational training is increasing as the number of lay-offs around the state increases. He said funding levels at the school barely allow him to maintain programs from year-to-year.

Twin Falls City Councilmember Erik Andersen said that the bill fails to deal with the need for a broader tax base. He said the local option tax "is the reaction

Kimberly names stadium for former principal

By DONITA COTTER
Times-News correspondent

KIMBERLY — The Kimberly High School football stadium will be named McClellan Stadium in honor of the late Jim McClellan, high school principal in Kimberly for nine years.

The Kimberly School Board voted unanimously to name the stadium at its recent meeting. The trustees also approved solicitation of bids for a mini-bus, discussed future district land acquisitions and toured the newly remodeled junior high school auditorium.

McClellan, 48, died Oct. 6 of an extended illness. Superintendent Richard Bauscher said Kimberly students and Junior High Principal Richard Rees pushed for the stadium's dedication in McClellan's honor.

The principal had been very involved in the district's athletic programs, said Bauscher.

In other business:

• The board approved sending out specifications to solicit bids for a new or used 1985 model 21- or 23-passenger mini-bus. The district received an extra $20,000 this year through an emergency school levy for increased enrollment to purchase an additional school bus.

• The board examined a map of lands surrounding the district's 21 acres that may have potential for school sites.

"With our projected enrollment increases, we are going to need additional facilities, and we should have our eyes on lands for possible school sites," Bauscher said.

"To fully utilize existing facilities, our best alternative would be to acquire adjacent lands," he said.

About 22 acres of irrigated farmland owned by Nolan Victor is available to the west and south of the district's acreage.

• Trustees inspected the $3,000 worth of improvements to the junior high auditorium. The district raised about $1,500 through a "donate-a-seat" program to purchase 165 used seats for the auditorium. The new ceiling also was donated. Other improvements included refinishing the wood floors, new wiring, recessed lights, paint and wall repairs.

Police arrest two on burglary charges

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Two Twin Falls men were arrested and about $5,000 in stolen property recovered Tuesday night as part of an ongoing investigation of recent burglaries in Twin Falls.

Charles Sklavos, 21, and Randy Lee McNeil, 20, both of Twin Falls, were arrested Tuesday night on charges of first-degree burglary.

McNeil was taken into custody by city police at his home at 1952 Addison Ave. E. Officers went to the home with a search warrant in connection with the burglary investigation.

Sklavos was arrested in his automobile at the North Five Points intersection.

Police said the investigation resulted in recovery of merchandise taken in two burglaries of Swensen's Market on Washington Street and items identified as missing from a number of other burglaries over the past few months.

One of the burglaries was reported Monday at the Paulette Kinsey home, 1421 Seventh Ave. E.

The residents were out of town when the burglary was discovered Monday morning but relatives listed about $3,000 in appliances, sound equipment and other items as missing.

Detectives said their investigation resulted in recovery of miscellaneous merchandise from Swensen's Market that fills two shopping carts, video cassette recorder equipment, guns, jewelry, food items and 82 VCR tapes valued at about $7 each.

Both suspects were arraigned in 5th District Magistrate Court Wednesday afternoon. Sklavos remained in custody in lieu of $500 bond Wednesday night, and McNeil was released on a similar bond.

Fire safety, building codes: how strict?

Candidates take sides in long-standing conflict; updated code awaits council nod

By ANNETTE CARY

Analysis

TWIN FALLS — Few issues have received more attention from the City Council in the last four years than how strictly building and fire safety codes should be enforced.

Only a few months after one safety issue was resolved, the council has been faced with answering the same questions over again: How safe is safe enough? Who's to decide? And when does regulation become over-regulation?

Fire safety regulations is one subject on which the two incumbents in the Nov. 5 council race take firm and opposite stands, continuing a debate that reaches back through the years they have both served on the council. And it's an issue on which the former fire marshall and former fire chief took some controversial stands during their years as city employees.

Mayor Emery Petersen has been outspoken in his criticism of the Uniform Building Code. He's all for fire safety, he has said, but the Uniform Building Code is "not the Bible."

During the last three years he has repeatedly said that city building inspectors have not used common sense in applying the code and that some regulations are too costly for the amount of safety they provide.

The result, he believes — and many business owners and developers agree — is that local development is stifled by unreasonable restrictions.

In 1982 he cast the lone council vote against a sprinkler system for City Hall. He argued that the proximity to the Fire Department and the type of building construction made the system an unnecessary $13,000 expense.

And the same year he unsuccessfully brought a case to the Building Inspections Appeals Board, arguing, among other things, that an inspector's request that an exit sign in his newly expanded downtown store was unnecessary since the location of exits was obvious. He was the first person to bring a case before the board.

Most of his battles he has won, however.

He successfully opposed a recommendation in 1981 made by Bobby Bopp, then fire chief, that sprinkler systems be required in every building over 5,000 square feet. Councilmembers decided the systems would not be needed in all buildings and were too expensive overall.

In 1983 the council, for the first time, did not routinely adopt the latest version of the Uniform Building Code. Instead, the council voted to reject a portion of it, the Life Safety Code, which included controversial new requirements which might have forced changes in existing public buildings, including the installation of sprinkler systems in basements.

As a result, Petersen says, Twin Falls High School was not required to install a $300,000 fire safety sprinkler system throughout the building.

He also supported a resolution that makes clear the city's intent to require only new buildings and additions to meet fire safety standards.

In 1984 he supported a code amendment that would allow exceptions to the Uniform Building Code for individual businesses if the business could prove a hardship. The request was brought by Henningsen Cold Storage, which did not want to install a thick fire wall and could not meet setback requirements.

Most councilmembers said the waiver was needed to add flexibility to the permit application process.

The amendment passed, with only Councilmember Mary McClusky opposing it. She denounced the council's decision as special interest legislation that could jeopardize the welfare of the city and its residents.

"I want my community to know this is politics and self-interest," she said then. "I'm not against industry, but I want them to come in here and be protected by good law."

Several local architects, engineers and contractors also criticized the council decision, saying they feared that a stable system would be replaced by uncertainty and the opportunity for political favoritism.

McClusky and Petersen were again on opposite sides of a fire safety issue earlier this month. Stuart Morrison Tire Co. protested a decision by the inspection staff and came to the council for help.

The council granted the company an extension in which to install fire doors, against the advice of staff members who spoke of legal liability problems and the propriety of the council making the decision when city law gives that responsibility to inspectors and an appeals board.

Petersen said, after touring the building, that the fire doors were not needed. To not allow at least an extension would prevent the addition from being built, "retarding the economy," he said.

McClusky, who also toured the Testimony of experts clashes in well trial

By PAT MARCANTONIO
and KENNETH A. BROWN
Times-News writers

TWIN FALLS — Several legal issues were resolved and expert witnesses clashed Wednesday in a lawsuit brought against Amalgamated Sugar Co. by a woman charging the firm is responsible for polluting her well.

Virigina Hill filed the suit July 8, 1983, claiming the domestic well at her home southeast of Twin Falls had been contaminated by the company's dumping of waste in the area.

The trial began last Tuesday in 5th District Court.

Judge Daniel Meehl Wednesday dismissed, at the request of Hill's attorney, Jeff Stoker, Hill's request for the court to order the company to stop dumping the wastes allegedly polluting the groundwater.

Meehl also ruled that he would not ask the jury to rule on whether to impose punitive damages, as requested by the plaintiff.

Stoker charged that the company had persistently violated water quality standards and was reckless. The company had been put on notice about Mrs. Hill's problems but failed to respond, Stoker said.

He compared the company's practices to a man shooting a gun down a street, not intending the bullet to strike anybody. But there was the potential of injury.

Defense attorney Bill Parsons argued that the violations weren't extreme enough, nor was any malice or gross negligence shown, to warrant putting the punitive damage question before the jury.

Pole bashes in new vehicle

TWIN FALLS — Katie Zacklan of Twin Falls bought a new 1985 Wagoneer Wednesday and hadn't completed the licensing and other new car paperwork when a power pole, pulled down by a truck, smashed in the top of the shiny new vehicle.

City police reported the 1985 vehicle was parked in the car lot near the alley behind Red's Trading Post in the 200 block of Shoshone Street South about 4 p.m. Wednesday.

A truck-tractor unit driven by Gary K. Mitchell, 49, of Salt Lake City, Utah, was northbound and turning right into the alleyway to make a delivery. The door portion of the truck caught a power pole at the alley entrance and pulled it over onto the parked vehicle.

City police estimated damage at $1,000 to the Jeep and about $500 to the truck and power pole each.

Idaho Power Co. crews were called to help remove the pole from the new vehicle.

Accident results in DUI arrest

BURLEY — A three-vehicle accident in Burley Monday resulted in injuries to three people and the arrest of one on a felony DUI charge.

Burley Police reported Michael Maurice Harman, 37, of Burley, was arrested Monday afternoon on charges of driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages, third offense. He was also cited for driving without privileges (a suspended drivers license).

Police said a vehicle driven by Harman left Overland Avenue in the 1400 block about 4:45 p.m. It swerved into a parking lot that serves a sandwich shop.

He was in custody in the hospital Tuesday, awaiting court appearances on the two charges. Officers are still investigating the accident.

Official will address farmers

TWIN FALLS — The director of bargaining and markets for the National Farmers Organization will headline the group's Idaho state convention here Saturday.

Walter Hackney of Omaha will address the convention's dinner meeting, which begins at 7 p.m. at the Holiday Inn. Dinner is $5 per person.

The convention will open at 9:30 a.m. with meetings about various commodities, beginning with grains and moving into cattle and livestock, said Twin Falls County Chapter President Shirl Sylvester. An afternoon business meeting also is scheduled.

The public is invited to all convention events, Sylvester said.

1-car accident victim charged

TWIN FALLS — A Twin Falls man whose 1979 sports car was demolished in an accident Tuesday afternoon was charged Wednesday with inattentive driving, failure to have proof of insurance and driving on a suspended license.

Twin Falls County sheriff's officers investigated the one-car accident at 1:44 p.m. Tuesday on a county road along Rock Creek, one mile west and one-half mile north of the west city limits.

Lt. James Hopkins said skid marks indicated Rodney Lee Harter, 34, of Twin Falls, was traveling about 70 miles per hour when he failed to negotiate a curve and his vehicle left the roadway and crashed into a tree. He was taken to the Twin Falls Clinic Hospital for treatment of rib fractures and minor injuries. Hopkins said he was scheduled to be released later Wednesday. The vehicle was demolished.

Sgt. Dave Neal of the Idaho State Police assisted with the accident investigation.

Evans announces appointments

BOISE (AP) — Gov. John Evans has named Dr. John Barnes, former Boise State University president, to a three-year term on the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education.

Barnes, who is retired and living in Boise, succeeds Dr. Martha Jones, whose term has expired.

Other appointments made by Evans and announced Tuesday include:

Dr. John A. Lanting, Twin Falls, four-year term to the State Board of Veterinary Medical Examiners. He succeeds Dr. Charles Donnelly, whose term expired.

Mary Hartung, Payette, to a six-year term on the State Judicial Council. She succeeds Helen McKinney, Caldwell, whose term expires.

Willis E. Sullivan III, Boise, reappointed to a four-year term on the Commission on Uniform State Laws.

Dr. Charles Harris, Boise, reappointed to a four-year term to the State Board of Podiatry.

Dr. Colin Doyle, Lewiston, reappointed to a three-year term to the State Board of Hearing Aid Dealers and Fitters.

building, said not adding the doors would endanger lives.

Monday, at a forum sponsored by the League of Women Voters, she said that modern building and fire codes could be encouraged without discouraging business growth. The problem now seems to be one of needing better communication with contractors, she said.

She said she will not support any attempt to weaken the Uniform Building Code. Her first responsibility is to the lives of firefighters who must enter burning buildings, her second to the businesses next door and her third to the employees of the business, she said.

Bopp agreed at the forum that the Uniform Building Code should be enforced, but he also said that reasonable interpretations are necessary. The code lists alternatives, he said.

His stand on fire sprinklers is well-known. His city letterhead carried the following quotation: "An automatic fire-sprinkling system protects life and property from fire."

As fire chief, he angered business owners who said he was forcing commercial property owners to spend thousands of extra dollars on unnecessary safety measures, especially automatic sprinklers. But he pointed out that less property had been lost to fire in Twin Falls in the five years before he resigned, than in Lewiston, Nampa, Idaho Falls or Coeur d'Alene.

Candidate Fred Higgins, a former fire marshall, also spoke at the LWV forum Monday in favor of strong fire codes.

It was Higgins who closed the old O'Leary Junior High School building and successfully called for extensive fire safety improvements in Twin Falls elementary schools.

Higgins said in 1976 that open stairways, thin-panel doors and flammable ceiling tiles made O'Leary a fire trap. Tests on similar buildings showed that within 10 minutes of a fire starting, corridors could not be used, he said.

Building and fire codes were written in response to tragedies in the past, he said Monday.

"My answer is yes, we should enforce the law," he said. Builders who think enforcement is too restrictive have the opportunity to make an appeal to a board appointed by the council and then go to court, he said.

Council candidate Rick Carr said building and fire codes can be enforced reasonably and that they have been in the past without discouraging business growth.

He said he would favor deviating from the code if not just councilmembers but fire and inspection staffs agreed it could be done safely.

Jim Vickers, a business owner and retired firefighter, spoke in favor of uniform enforcement of fire safety regulations. The council made a mistake in granting an extension to Stuart Morrison Tire Co., he said.

When he remodeled his store he complied with fire safety requirements designed to protect surrounding buildings, even though there were no businesses on some sides. "Hopefully, in the future there will be," he said.

Candidate Ernie Vasquez said fire codes should be enforced without favoritism. And Ernie Wallen suggested that businesses apply for loans rather than extensions on fire safety measures.

Candidate Donald McMurrian was unable to attend the forum but later said that "the fire code is another stone thrown at mom and pop businesses."

Whichever of the three candidates are elected, they are likely to find themselves hit with a fire safety issue about as soon as they are seated: The latest, updated edition of the Uniform Building Code is out and waiting for a council decision on adoption.

we must take to the fact that the federal government is passing the tax burden to the cities."

"To the man, everyone that has spoken is a parasite on the economy," said Orville Knighton. Knighton said he is a little businessman that is about to fall through the cracks. Knighton said he favors no tax increases.

Richard Hart, speaking for the College of Education at Boise State University, said Idaho teachers are becoming more dissatisfied with their jobs. He said increased funding will be necessary to ensure teachers will be available to replace the many schedule for retirement in the coming years.

Twin Falls City Manager Tom Courtney said local services are essential to attracting new businesses to the area, but that local taxes will not long be able to support existing services, let alone increased services.

The bill is being proposed and promoted by a bipartisan group of Idaho representatives who listened to testimony at a two-hour hearing on the College of Southern Idaho campus as part of a series of hearings in five cities this month.

Trial

Parsons also asked for a verdict from Meehl — without the jury — on the issue of whether the statute of limitations had run its course on the alleged occurrences.

But Meehl agreed with Stoker's objection that case law dictated a limitation that still made the case viable.

Meehl, however, ruled earlier against Stoker's request to submit into evidence an Amalgamated Sugar financial statement in connection with Hill's request for punitive damages.

Stoker said he will be asking for damages that would allow Mrs. Hill to be placed on the Twin Falls city water system.

Dr. Charles Brockway of Twin Falls testified for the defense. Brockway is a research professor with the University of Idaho working in the area of groundwater and water resources. He also works as a private consultant and was hired by a Boise consulting firm working for Amalgamated Sugar.

Brockway's testimony took part of the morning session and almost three hours of the afternoon session as Parsons questioned Brockway and submitted several graphs, charts, and scale models to illustrate his assessment of the groundwater system of the area beneath Amalgamated Sugar and in the vicinity of Hill's well.

Brockway said the contaminants in Hill's well were not linked to the Amalgamated Sugar property. His opinion was based on well response, well logs recording water levels, and geologic data of the area. The water from Amalgamated should run towards Rock Creek, not the Hill property, he said.

While he said water in the ill well was not linked to Amalgamated, Brockway later admitted that "some of the water reaching Mrs. Hill's property comes from Amalgamated Sugar."

Parsons asked Brockway's opinion of testimony submitted Tuesday by the plaintiff claiming that a subsurface "narrow channel," or flow of water, was bringing contaminants to the Hill well from a 1.9-acre pond on Amalgamated property.

While the Hill well has had contamination problems, other nearby wells have not. The plaintiff's explanation for that has been a narrow channel linking the Hill well to the Amalgamated pond.

Brockway said there was no narrow channel or flow linking the Hill well to the pond. He also questioned the propriety of certain techniques or evaluations witnesses for the plaintiff had used in evaluating the area's groundwater flows.

Under cross-examination by Stoker, however, Brockway admitted that Hill's well is an anomaly. The level of water in it is higher than that of surrounding wells.

Questioning Brockway, Stoker suggested that a "narrow channel" might account for a higher level of water in the vicinity of the Hill well.

Brockway, however, stuck to his evaluation, saying their was no evidence to suggest a narrow channel. "We have an anomaly in a well, but not in a channel," Brockway said.

Cross-examination will continue this morning.

Court request muddle may prevent tax vote

By DAVE LEWIS
Times-News correspondent

SUN VALLEY — Confusion over the extent of Sun Valley Co.'s claim to have dropped its legal action against the city of Sun Valley's local option tax may threaten efforts to broaden the base of that tax.

Although no action has been taken by the City Council, some of its members are concerned the city's plans for a Dec. 3 election to change the tax may not come off if all legal challenges are not removed.

"I think right now we want to watch and wait and see if problems are resolved before we embark on any modifications on the local option tax," says Councilman Steve Luber.

At issue is the extent of Sun Valley's Co.'s withdrawal of a petition for the Idaho Supreme Court to reconsider its August decision upholding the state's resort cities' local option tax, under which the city collects 5 percent on rented rooms and lounge drinks.

On Oct. 16, the company dropped its request for the court to review a part of its opinion that said the law was a proper "implementation" of the Legislature's taxing authority and that it had sufficient safeguards to protect taxpayers.

However, the company's attorney, Carl Burke of Boise, also asked the court to modify or rescind the part of its opinion that said the law was not a special or local law that violates the company's right to equal protection under the federal constitution.

Burke argued that those issues had not been argued in District Court, and the court had acted prematurely in giving an opinion on them.

Although General Manager Wally Huffman says the company's intention is not to preserve a legal opening for future challenges to the tax, city officials say the company's limited withdrawal of its petition to the Supreme Court leaves them susceptible to further court action.

City Attorney Mark Russell says if the Supreme Court modifies its opinion or returns it to District Court for further action, the city could find itself in court and the tax still under jeopardy.

Even if Sun Valley Co. make no further challenge to the tax, one could come from anybody within any of the six Idaho resort cities that have the tax, Russell says.

"They didn't close the door on the case," says Council Member Tom Praggastis, himself an attorney.

Huffman says he regrets the confusion, but understands the council's desire to be cautious on the matter.

"I'd just as soon see the entire issue dropped so we can get on with it," he says.

The company's original reason for dropping the petition for reconsideration, he says, was to remove any obstacle to the process of broad-basing the tax.

Huffman says he has not talked to Burke since the issue was raised by the council on Oct. 25, and he isn't sure if he can now remove the legal problem.

Although Luber says he does not want the legal question to stop the city's plans to broaden the tax base — to about a 2 percent general sales tax — he says some council members may insist the legal question be removed before any action is taken.

Luber says he wants to wait as long as possible before establishing a level for the tax and deciding on exemptions to see if the Supreme Court makes an early ruling on the company's latest petition.

However, Mayor Ruth Lieder says that Nov. 4 is the deadline for the city to set the tax to meet state publication requirements on special elections, and the court probably won't have acted by then.

The council will meet at 4:30 p.m. on Nov. 4 to discuss the tax in the city hall.

Councilmen John Jones and Joe Humphrey are out of town and could not be reached, but Praggastis says he also does not want the legal question to stop the plans to change the tax.

Praggastis says the dropping of the reconsideration by Sun Valley Co. was not a condition to the city's calling a special election to broaden the taxes base, and he does not think it should become a condition.

Although he does not support it, Praggastis says the council could decide to not exempt ski lift tickets from the tax as the company has requested for the same reasons.

Lieder says she is concerned the issue over the legal questions might cause a backlash on the part of the voters over resentment against the company for continuing the legal issues.

The voters may elect to keep the tax at the 5 percent on rented rooms and lounge drinks, she says.

Treat 'for the kids'

Down through history, many wonderful and great parents have met their Waterloo because of four little words, "do it for the kids." We may not do it for our wives or husbands or bosses, but we will do it for these four-foot-high, tow-headed munchkins we call our children.

Diana Hooley
Country neighbors

And what do we do for them? We blow big bubblegum bubbles so they can pop them and get the goo all over our nose and eyelashes. We eat a steady diet every day of hot dogs and hamburgers or several variations thereof. We spend our day off in movie theatres watching the trials and perils of the Care Bears. And we spend our nights off chasing around the kids' bedroom yelling, "All you monsters better get outta here!"

Some parents feel this is just part of the program. And I suppose it is. But there are times when we parents go beyond the call of duty. This time every year for me has traditionally been Halloween.

Why do I feel it necessary to take the kids to every Halloween party within a 20-mile radius? An even greater mystery is why I feel the need to dress up, myself, for these parties. Nobody twists my arm and forces me to put on the Phantom-of-the-Opera hairpiece or the false nose. But my kids love it. They like seeing mom make a fool of herself almost as much as daddy does.

This year, again, I found myself on the way to one of the "kids' " Halloween parties trying to hunt up some sort of costume for myself. The old standbys — bag lady and fat tramp — just didn't feel like "me" this year. I wanted to do something a little more creative.

Then I had an idea. Why not dress up in my black snowmobile suit and snowmobile gloves and be a spaceman? I'd put a box over my head with a hole in it for a space

Teacher carries global perspective on science

By TERRELL WILLIAMS
Times-News correspondent

WENDELL — Tim Viel has left the jungles of Colombia, a Montana Indian reservation and the Alaskan tundra to begin a teaching career at Wendell High School.

Viel and his wife, Dori, are both former Peace Corps workers. But with a set of two-year-old twin daughters and another newborn daughter, they decided it was time to settle down.

When a temporary job at Crystal Springs Hatchery ended last year, the biologist got a teaching degree to be a biology, chemistry and physics instructor.

"We like the people and the area here," Viel says. "The high desert grows on you."

Originally from Knoxville, Tenn., Viel graduated from the University of Tennessee in 1978 and immediately joined the Peace Corps. With his expertise in fresh water biology, he was sent to work with the Colombian government for two years in fisheries management, working on projects from fish culture to research on native fish.

"It was my first confrontation with any Third World environment . . . and extreme poverty," Viel recalls. "It was quite an eye-opener for me, coming from an affluent, middle-class family. It still influences me now quite a bit.

"America is the land of the good and plenty," he adds. "We take it for granted so much."

In the high mountains of the South American country, Viel and others introduced North American rainbow trout to remote fresh-water streams. Next, the biologists "got a hatchery going" and taught the Colombians how to utilize their new resource.

"I know some remote rivers in Colombia that are incredible trout fishing streams," Viel says, explaining how well the trout took to their new home.

Later, Viel moved downstream to the hot lowlands to help the Colombians utilize the economic and food potential of native fish.

Certain areas of Colombia were restricted to travelers because of high guerrilla activity, but Viel says he managed to see much of the country.

Next stop for the fish biologist was Montana, where he worked for the Fish and Wildlife Service on a Cheyenne and Crow Indian reservation. In about 18 months, Viel's technical assistance helped determine fish species and population and establish a fisheries management plan.

"Then I found out about a job in South America, so I went back there," he says.

This time, Viel, working as a private consultant, went to northeastern Colombia on the Peninsula of the Guajira near the border of Venezuela.

"I always wanted to get to this area because I'd heard so many neat things about it," Viel explains. "It's extremely remote and cut off from the outside. Cultural styles and beliefs are still intact . . . so they were really neat to work with."

From the 19,000-foot peak of Santa Marta to the humid lands far below, Viel worked two years, getting to know the entire drainage area, including the people as well as wildlife. He identified about 60 native species of fish as part of an environmental impact study on a proposed coal mining project.

Some of these species were not known at all, while others were only briefly described in a few 1890 records at the Smithsonian Institute.

"It was really fascinating to do research on these species," Viel says. "Some of the species we caught are still undescribed."

The mining project, he adds, is still "on the back burner."

"I'd like to see it stay undeveloped," he says.

Downstream on the semi-tropical rivers, Viel kids that "to be able to work with boas hanging over you and alligators all around is really a lot of fun."

After marrying his sweetheart, Viel flew to the northern border of Alaska where the oil pipeline begins at Prudhoe Bay. There he did a study on the environmental impact of oil development.

"We tickled a few fish bellies, and they're all pretty happy," he says, noting that this is an ongoing study during summer months. "I'd like to keep working on it. It's a fun place in the summer, on the tundra by the Arctic Ocean."

Looking for a more permanent home, Viel and his wife were attracted to northern Idaho.

Wendell candidates present positions

By TERRELL WILLIAMS
Times-News correspondent

WENDELL — Two candidates will be on the ballot Tuesday for the office of mayor in Wendell, and three other candidates will compete for two city council seats.

Incumbent Mayor Otto Lemke is seeking his fourth three-year term. His challenger is Mike Wetzstein, a former city council member.

Council President M.M. "Dick" Beck has filed for re-election and will be running against Matt Bunn and Wally Dixon for the council seats.

Councilman Denton Adams is not seeking re-election.

Lemke said Wendell is in good shape financially, with lower water, sewer and garbage rates than any other city in the Magic Valley. When $80,000 was needed this year for more land for the sewer system, Wendell had the cash, Lemke said, because of good financial planning and management.

"We could use some more money, of course," he said, "but, to me, there's no excuse for a city to be in the red, with the budget right in front of you."

As police commissioner, Lemke said he is very pleased with the city police officers and "the very fine cooperation" among county officers, Wendell officers and council members.

"It's better than it's ever been," he said. "It's been running really smooth."

The mayor commended City Clerk June Holm and Treasurer Racquel Braga, saying they keep everything running nice up at City Hall.

"We don't have any problems, it seems like," he added.

Lemke is a retired farmer and businessman and owner of the Silver Spur in Wendell. He and his wife, Alice, have lived in Wendell 26 years and have three adult children.

"I'm not a politician," Lemke

Janda withdraws, attacks 2 councilmen

Ketchum candidate battle heats up

By DAVE LEWIS
Times-News correspondent

KETCHUM — One candidate in the Ketchum city election has withdrawn from the crowded council race, throwing his support to two others and attacking another.

Frank Janda, who has run on a pro-growth and pro-business platform, withdrew late Tuesday because he said other candidates better represent the positions he supports.

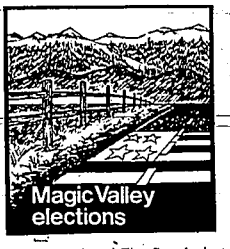
Receiving his backing are Karl Bick and Larry Young, two people Janda says will help renew the town's economy.

"Bick basically has his heart in the right place," he says. And, "Larry thinks out everything he does and has Ketchum's interests at heart."

Janda says with six candidates seeking two seats on the City Council, he didn't want to dilute Bick's and Young's chances to win and to bring a change in the direction of the council.

In leaving the race, Janda took a parting shot at two councilmen, one of whom is running for re-election.

He characterized the council with



Jack Corrock and Tim Crawford as "useless" and said, "The most important thing we need to do is get Crawford off the council."

Corrock is not seeking re-election, and Crawford is seeking a second term.

Janda also accused the two councilmen of organizing a negative campaign against Bick.

Janda said the two are responsible for an ad that appeared in a Ketchum newspaper, The Idaho Mountain Express, last week that claimed to "tell the rest of the story" about Bick, who is running a well-financed media campaign based on his involvement in city and county government.

However, Crawford flatly denies that he is involved in the campaign directed at Bick, a Ketchum realtor.

"I had nothing to do with it," he said.

Crawford says he is frustrated and annoyed by false allegations against himself and the council that say he and others on the board have choked economic growth in the city.

"It's hardly true that we are useless," he says.

The professional photographer lists several accomplishments of the council in the past four years that he says have been a benefit to development and the economy of the city. These include:

• The annexation of the Northwood II and Bigwood subdivisions, both large tracts of land, in a manner he says that was good for the city's future development.

• Approved the Greyhawk Inn in Warm Spring tourist area of the city.

That approval came, however, after the council denied a much larger hotel in the same area.

• Upgraded the ambulance and fire departments and put in a 911 emergency number. These efforts not only protect lives, but property, he says.

• Expanded the municipal water system in the downtown to provide fire protection and allow more development.

• Revamped the building requirements in the downtown business district to allow essentially double the floor space under certain conditions.

"I think this council has shown a great deal of responsibility in balancing the needs of the locals and the tourist amenities," Crawford says.

He also cites his participation in the lobbying effort made last winter by the cities of Sun Valley and Ketchum to preserve the state resort cities' local option tax.

"I think that is a decent record and one to be well proud of," Crawford says.

Asked why he may be singled out for criticism, Crawford says, "There must be some special interest that doesn't like my performance."

Asked who the special interest might be, he answered, "Obviously, helmet and use my vacuum cleaner hose as an oxygen line. How clever, how unique, how stuffy.

And it got even stuffier. Funny thing about breathing in a box with a hole cut at your eye level. It's like breathing in a box with no hole at all. The only thing that saved me from carbon monoxide poisoning was my double jointed neck. I could tip my neck back far enough and the box forward far enough to expose my lips through the hole and breathe. Then I no longer looked like a spaceman, but a lips creature from another planet.

I would never have gone through this misery if I didn't have an appreciative audience. My kids howled. I knew they loved my spaceman outfit because they were the only ones that voted for me as best costume at the Halloween party. When it counts, you can count on your family.

After the costume judging there was no reason to present myself any longer in total ensemble with matching hood and vacuum cleaner tubing. So I removed my space headgear and regained my normal breathing apparatus, namely a straightened neck and open airway.

Everything would have been fine after that. I'd have enjoyed scrounging for candy on the floor and passing apples under my neck if I still wasn't wearing a snowmobile outfit minus the cold snow.

So, we come to my final words on "doing it for the kids" or rather "not doing it for the kids." When, after wearing a snowmobile outfit for two hours in a 70 degree room, you find yourself irresistably tempted to dress down, and you long to exchange this Halloween costume for nothing less than your airy cool birthday suit — don't do it . . . for the kids.

Karl Bick and his circle of friends, whoever they might be."

Crawford says he represents no special interest but the interest of people who moved here and enjoy the quality of life in the Wood River Valley, and not people who want to see it become something bigger, like the resorts in Aspen or Vail.

"I certainly don't represent those who came here looking for a Klondike," he says. "Bick is running on a platform of renewed economic growth without jeopardizing the quality of life in Ketchum. But, he says he does not endorse Janda's statements against Crawford.

"What I would agree with from Janda is that his and my approaches to problems and definitions of them and our solutions to them are quite consistent," Bick says.

Young took a similar line.

"I'm not going to endorse something like that," he says. "I'm not running against Tim. I'm running for one of the seats (on the council)."

Wendell

commented. "I just enjoy the job. I've got the time to do it. I like the people in Wendell, and I've had good support."

Mike Wetzstein said more short-, medium- and long-range planning is needed for Wendell to grow as the new comprehensive city plan directs.

"I'd like to see a little more planning take place," he said.

This planning, Wetzstein explains, would help control "a lot of potential problems." For example, he said, water and sewer systems should be "kept up so the city can take a little growth without hurting us."

Wetzstein said there is not necessarily a lack of planning, but there is not as much as he would like to see.

A veteran of 20 years of service in the Air Force, Wetzstein now is a warehouseman for the Sioux Honey Association in Wendell. He was on the city council four years, from 1980 through 1983. He is single and has lived in Wendell about 10 years.

Wetzstein wants to be mayor of Wendell, he said, because, "I'd like to give it a chance and see what I could do."

Dick Beck, at the end of his first four-year term, said there are no problems with the city and things are "running pretty smooth."

"That's one of the reasons I'd like to stay on," he said. "I'd like to stay on and see if I can't help keep it that way."

Beck said he would also like to continue to help working on the sewer system expansion and "see it get under control."

Beck, former manager of the Wendell Grange Supply for 16 years, is retired. He and his wife, Almeta, have lived in Wendell 39 years and have three adult children.

Matt Bunn said he would like to be on the council "to go in and try to do a good job."

There are no specific problems and he has no axes to grind, Bunn said.

"I hope to have some good input on what problems do come up," he said, "and make some right decisions for the city of Wendell."

Bunn is an assistant vice president loan officer at Farmer's National Bank in Wendell and has served on the board of directors. He said this experience may help him give the city good advice on financial matters.

Bunn, a native of Wendell, has lived here all his life and is single.

Wally Dixon said he would like to join the council and work to make the public more welcome to express their ideas or problems.

"I'd like to see a city council work with the people instead of against them," he said.

Dixon explains that although no one goes to the council to tell members they're doing a good job, his personal experience was one of getting a negative response before discussion of a problem began. Council members, he said, should try to be more open minded.

Dixon said the city has a few problems he would like to help with, but there is not anything he wants to "jump right in and change."

Also, Dixon said it is his civic duty "to do some of this work," and others have urged him to be on the council.

"Everyone should take a shot at it so they know what's going on," he said.

Dixon is a native of Wendell and has lived here all his life. He is head of the petroleum department of the Wendell Grange Supply and is a volunteer fireman. He and his wife, DeNene, have one son.

Eden secures insurance coverage; accountant reports fiscal health

By INA HADAM
Times-News correspondent

EDEN — Eden City Council members say they feel fortunate to obtain liability insurance coverage from National Farmers Union after their previous insurance carriers cancelled the city's policy.

Last year's bill for insurance was $1,200, and coverage this year will cost the city $1,239 — just $39 more than was paid last year.

In other business:

• Ron Clark, of the accounting firm of Snow, Waldron and Brown, presented the annual audit report to the council at their recent meeting.

"A lot of businesses would envy the fiscal health of the city of Eden," Clark told council members.

Clark said he had no major recommendations to make in the way the city finances are being handled.

Council members voted to again retain Clark's firm for the coming fiscal year.

• City Clerk Edith Utt told the council that many residents have difficulty getting up the steps to City Hall. The building's entrance is on the north side and is often snow-covered in the winter, she said.

The council voted unanimously to build a covered ramp at the entrance and a sidewalk from the front door west to the curb.

No action was taken during the discussion on how to collect delinquent water bills. The city will continue to turn off water service if past due accounts remain unpaid.

• The council voted to hire Mae Riley as judge and Debbie Carpenter and Betty Rice as clerks for the city election, which will be held Nov. 5 from noon to 8 p.m.

The council members also voted to change their meeting date in November from the second Monday to Nov. 6 to canvas the ballots immediately after the election.

In addition to all three members whose terms are expiring on the council this year, one newcomer to the area, Jane Anderson, will be on the city election ballot.

Anderson says she lives in Eden by choice, although both she and her husband work in Twin Falls, and she wants "to be an active member of my community."

Melvin Rife, who was appointed to fill a vacancy created by Dave Winters who left before his term expired, is now seeking a full term.

Incumbents Diann McNeil and Donald Petersen are also seeking another term of office.

Statens waive right to a speedy trial

By DONITA COTTER
Times-News correspondent

JEROME — Gary and Rosemarie Staten of Hazelton, who have pleaded not guilty to charges of involuntary manslaughter in the death of their 11-month-old daughter, have waived their right to a speedy trial and consented to changing their trial date from Nov. 6 to Feb. 25, 1986.

The case will be heard in Fifth District Court by District Court Judge Phillip Becker.

The criminal complaint filed against the Statens alleges the couple failed to provide food and medical attention for their daughter, Tanya Lynne, who weighed 10 pounds at the time of death. According to the autopsy performed at Magic Valley Regional Medical Center, the child died of bronchiolitis, bronchopneumonia and malnutrition.

The charges carry a maximum penalty of 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

'Common-law divorce' called bigamy

Abigail VanBuren
Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I know in some states there is such a thing as "common-law marriage," which means people are as good as married if they live together as husband and wife for a certain length of time.

How about "common-law divorce"? I have a relative (I'll call him Earl) who drove his wife (Myrtle") and their two children to Texas to visit her parents in 1975, and he never went back to get them.

In the meantime, Earl (who lives in Ohio) took up with a lady, and they are now living together just like married folks. Myrtle and the kids seem happy in Texas, although they haven't had any contact with Earl since he left them there.

Earl is now making plans to marry his ladyfriend; saying that after 10 years of separation, he has a "common-law divorce," so he can get married without any hassle.

Is this right? I've never heard of a common-law divorce, have you?

— INTERESTED RELATIVE

DEAR INTERESTED: No. But I have heard of "bigamy," which is what Earl can be charged with if he gets married to his ladyfriend while he's married to Myrtle.

DEAR ABBY: Your advice, "Never pick up a hitchhiker," supported by a column filled with horror stories, infuriated me.

I am well aware of the violent crimes taking place today, but I refuse to live in a self-made prison, double-locking all doors, putting bars on all windows, assuming that everyone out there is a potential robber, rapist or murderer. And I DO pick up hitchhikers because the majority of them are good people who want only transportation.

I think your attitude ("even if one in 10,000 is a bad apple, the odds are too high") is mean and selfish. Sign me ...

— MORE GENEROUS THAN YOU

DEAR MORE GENEROUS: You are also more courageous. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: Your answer to "Mad in Minnesota" on the danger of hitchhiking was exactly correct. Our son was one of those who loved to hitchhike to meet those "wonderful people." He hitchhiked all over the United States and southern Africa, even though he had plenty of money to travel by other means.

In the summer of 1984, at the age of 28, our son was apparently picked up by a "wonderful person" in Nebraska as he was returning to graduate school in Iowa. His decomposed body was found along the side of the freeway two weeks later with two bullets in it.

His mother had continually warned him not to hitchhike, but he wouldn't listen. I only hope that this story may help prevent the needless loss of life and the indescribable pain of grief for the families of other prospective hitchhikers.

— STILL GRIEVING IN TEXAS

DEAR ABBY: When someone sends wedding invitations, how do you feel about enclosing cards that say, "Gift preferences are registered at (name of store)"? The store where I am registered gave me a supply of these cards for that purpose.

My mother thinks it's a great idea, but my future mother-in-law thinks it's tacky.

I told my mother I would ask you and would go along with whatever you said.

I've never seen this done before, and I want to be sure it's proper etiquette before I send them.

— NERVOUS BRIDE

DEAR NERVOUS: I agree with your future mother-in-law. Should you be asked where you are registered, it's perfectly all right to say, but don't send the information along with your invitations.

Paper bag cure aggravates dizziness

NEW YORK (AP) — Contrary to popular belief, breathing into a paper bag doesn't stop hyperventilation but leads to more dizziness and shortness of breath, says a recent study at the New York Psychiatric Institute.

The study, in which 60 hyperventilators were monitored for two years, also found that anxiety causes hyperventilation and not the other way around.

Interest rates go down, Dow industrials hit closing high

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market rolled up another gain Wednesday, carrying the Dow Jones industrial average to a record closing high as interest rates dropped.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials climbed 6.84 to 1,375.57, surpassing the previous closing peak of 1,369.29 it reached on Oct. 17. The average rose 8.74 on Tuesday.

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange reached 120.36 million shares, up from 110.60 million Tuesday.

In Wednesday's activity, prices of long-term government bonds, which move in the opposite direction from interest rates, posted gains of $5 to $10 for every $1,000 in face value.

Excitement over the new high in the Dow was tempered somewhat by the fact that other, broader market measures remained below the record levels they reached in mid-summer.

There were just 58 Big Board issues that reached new 52-week highs Wednesday, compared with 26 new lows.

Securities-industry stocks had a good day in response to the rallies taking place in stock and bond prices. Merrill Lynch rose 1 to 29½; American Express 1⅛ to 45⅞; Phibro-Salomon 1 to 38⅝, and PaineWebber ½ to 28⅛.

U.S. Steel dropped ¾ to 26¾ and Texas Oil & Gas fell 1⅜ to 16½. The companies announced a definitive merger agreement calling for the exchange of 0.6333 of a U.S. Steel share for each share of Texas Oil & Gas.

Bethlehem Steel slumped 1⅞ to 13¼. The company reported a third-quarter loss, projected more red ink for the fourth quarter, and omitted its dividend.

Chesebrough-Pond's lost 2½ to 40⅝. The company, which has been the subject of takeover speculation, said it had had no discussions with any other party about a possible merger.

Pharmaceutical issues, which have drawn a boost lately because of the prospective benefits of a declining dollar for their overseas business, posted more gains. Merck, Pfizer, Smithkline Beckman and Upjohn each advanced a point or more.

Gainers outnumbered losers by about 5 to 3 on the Big Board, and the exchange's composite index added .50 to 109.69.

Nationwide turnover in NYSE-listed issues, including trades in those stocks on regional exchanges and in the over-the-counter market, totaled 144.45 million shares.

Standard & Poor's index of 400 industrials rose .72 to 211.14, and S&P's 500-stock composite index was up .84 at 190.07.

The NASDAQ composite index for the over-the-counter market climbed 1.14 to 292.26. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index closed at 228.11, up .14.

Steel, oil firms merge

PITTSBURGH (AP) — United States Steel Corp. moved farther from its steelmaking roots Wednesday, agreeing to acquire Texas Oil & Gas Corp., and the chairman says a name change might be considered to reflect the company's myriad interests.

Chairman David Roderick said he was keeping an open mind about changing the name of the nation's leading steelmaker to reflect that steel and related sales account for only 34 percent of overall revenue, a figure that would shrink if the merger is completed.

"We don't think we're backing away from steel," Roderick said. "This was a stock transaction. It took away no cash from our steel operations."

Texas Oil & Gas, one of the largest independent natural gas companies, is a highly regarded low-cost producer, known for the freedom its gives its division managers. U.S. Steel agreed to acquire the company through an exchange of about $3.6 billion in stock.

Whatever the company is called, its steel would be marketed under the name U.S. Steel, he said.

Sales of housing fall in September

WASHINGTON (AP) — Housing sales, despite some of the most attractive mortgage rates in years, fell 2.6 percent in September, the second consecutive monthly decline, the government said Wednesday.

Some analysts blamed the slowdown on the adverse impact of slow personal income growth and high consumer debt burdens and said the dip in housing sales would likely depress overall economic activity in coming months.

Sales of new single-family homes declined to an annual rate of 681,000 units last month following a 5.4 percent sales drop in August, according to the departments of Commerce and Housing and Urban Development.

The declines came despite the fact that fixed-rate mortgages can be obtained in many parts of the country for around 12.25 percent, down from a high a year ago of 15.2 percent and the lowest rate in five years.

The new sales report not only showed a decline in September but revised downward the sales level for both July and August. Sales this year reached a high of 739,000 units at an annual rate in July, dropping to 699,000 units in August.

While sales were down in the Northeast and Midwest, they rose 5.2 percent in the South and 5.3 percent in the West. For the first nine months of the year, home sales have totaled 15 percent more in the Northeast than the same period in 1984; 5 percent higher in the Midwest and West; and 4 percent higher in the South.

The average price of a new home jumped a sharp 5.1 percent in September to $103,600, compared with an average selling price of $98,600 in August.

The median price of a new home also rose in September by a smaller 1 percent to $83,800. The median price means half the homes sold for more and half for less.

The sales decline left a 6.6-month supply of unsold homes, the highest level since March.

Economists, who had expected low mortgage rates to keep sales strong at least through the summer, said the August and September declines could reflect growing concerns on the part of consumers.

"Income gains have been slowing for the past three months, the personal savings rate has dropped to a record low level and household debt is at a record high," said David Wyss, an economist at Data Resources Inc., a private forecasting firm. "People are getting reluctant to take on any more debt."

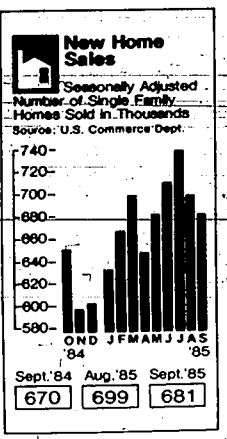
He said the drop in new home sales had already affected housing construction, which fell 9.3 percent in September, the biggest drop since May.

With the peak months of the 1985 selling season now over, it will be next spring before the housing industry is likely to show much life, he said, with this slowdown likely to hold back overall economic growth as well.

Other analysts said a variety of regional factors ranging from Hurricane Gloria in the Northeast to the depressed farm economy in the Midwest played a role in the September sales decline.

Sales were down 21.3 percent in both the Northeast and the Midwest.

Analysts noted that even with the two monthly declines, sales for the first nine months of the year are 6 percent above the level of a year ago.



We're going to great lengths to put you to the test.

Your speech and hearing are important to you. They mean a lot to us, too. That's why Mountain Bell is sponsoring a statewide program offering free speech and hearing tests. Tests which will be available from mobile testing units that will be travelling to all corners of Idaho.

This program, coordinated by the Speech Pathology and Audiology Department of Idaho State University, is designed to help identify speech and hearing problems that you or a family member may have. And, if any are detected, to assist you with expanded counseling and treatment.

We're proud to be involved in this community program. And when you consider that our roots began when Alexander Graham Bell experimented with aids for the deaf, it makes our participation even more worthwhile.

So, please look for our mobile testing unit, which will be at the following locations in Twin Falls. And put yourself to the test.

Precinct No. 8: Bickle School, 607 2nd Avenue East

Precinct No. 9: Morningside School, 800 Morningside Drive

Notice is further given that only qualified electors of said City, eighteen (18) years of age or older, who have resided in the City for thirty (30) days, who are registered as provided by law are entitled to vote at said election. No qualified elector who is duly registered as a voter and voted in at least one (1) General City Election in the past four (4) years, and who continues to reside at the same address, or within the same precinct in which he is registered, shall be required to register. But any elector (i) who has failed or neglected heretofore to vote in at least one (1) General City Election in the past four (4) years in said City, (ii) who has not registered, (iii) who has had his registration cancelled by the City Clerk as provided by law, or (iv) who has changed his residence (excluding a change within a precinct not requiring re-registration) must re-register.

An elector may register at the office of the City Clerk, in the City Hall, 321 2nd Avenue East in the City of Twin Falls, Idaho, or the office of the Twin Falls County Clerk, Twin Falls County Courthouse, 425 Shoshone Street North, Twin Falls Idaho, and other locations as may be determined by the Twin Falls County Clerk.

Persons may register at the office of the City Clerk or the Twin Falls County Clerk until and including Friday, November 1, 1985, at any time during the office hours of said City Clerk and Twin Falls County Clerk, except that on Friday, November 1, 1985, persons may register in any of said offices between the hours of 8:00 o'clock a.m. and 8:00 o'clock p.m.

Any registered elector of the City may make written application to the City Clerk in accordance with law for an absentee ballot, provided that an absentee ballot must be received by the City Clerk be 8:00 o'clock p.m. on the day of the election in order to be counted.

The voting at said election shall be by separate ballot. The ballots to be supplied the voters for their use at said election shall be in the form set forth in Ordinance No. 2156.

If at said Special General Bond Election two-thirds (2/3) of the qualified registered electors eighteen (18) years of age or older voting at such election assent to the issuing of said general obligation bonds and the incurring of the indebtedness thereby created for the purpose of the purchase, improvement and equipment of lands and buildings thereon for public recreation facilities to include a swimming pool complex, landscaping and related facilities, such general obligation bonds shall be issued for such voted purpose in the manner provided by the Municipal Bond Law of Idaho. Said general obligation bonds, or any issue thereof, shall mature over a period commencing at the expiration of one (1) year from their date and ending ten (10) years from their date and shall bear interest and be payable from ad valorem taxes in accordance with the provisions of Section 50-1026, Idaho Code, and the municipal Bond Law of Idaho.

The following information is required by Section 34-440, Idaho Code:

The total existing indebtedness, including interest accrued as of November 1, 1985, of the City of Twin Falls is $-0-. The interest rate anticipated on the proposed general obligation bonds is eight and one-half percent (8.50%). The range of anticipated rated is from seven and three-quarters percent (7.75%) to eleven and one-half percent (11.50%). The total amount to be repaid over the life of the proposed general obligation bonds, based on the anticipated interest rate is $1,067,625.00.

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that Mayor and Council will hold a special meeting on November 8, 1985, (said date being within six (6) days of the date of said election), at the hour of 4:00 p.m., at the regular meeting place of the Mayor and Council in the Council Chambers of City Hall in the City of Twin Falls, Idaho, for the purpose of canvassing the results of the Special General Obligation Bond Election.

DATED at Twin Falls, Idaho, this 16th day of September, 1985.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE

On Monday, the 10th day of February, 1986 at the hour of 10:30 o'clock A.M., of said day, at the Main Front Door of the Twin Falls County Courthouse, located at Shoshone Street and Fourth Avenue, City of Twin Falls, County of Twin Falls, State of Idaho, TITLE AND TRUST COMPANY, an Idaho Corporation, as successor trustee, will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, for cash, in lawful money of the United States, all payable at the time of sale, the following described real property, situated in the County of Twin Falls, State of Idaho, and described as follows, to-wit:

Lot 10, Block 1, VILLA VISTA SUBDIVISION NO. 3, Twin Falls County, Idaho, according to the plat thereof recorded in Volume 12 of Plats, Page 50, records of said County.

Said sale will be made without covenant or warranty regarding title, possession or encumbrances to satisfy the obligation secured by and pursuant to the power of sale conferred in the deed of trust executed by LLOYD L. WATSON and LORRI CYD WATSON, husband and wife; and WALTER E. EAGLE and ELLA M. EAGLE, husband and wife grantor, to TITLE AND TRUST COMPANY, an Idaho Corporation as successor trustee, for the benefit and security of FIRST INTERSTATE BANK OF IDAHO, NATIONAL ASSOCIATION, as beneficiary, dated May 25, 1983 recorded June 1, 1983 as Instrument No. 840908 in Volume at page, Mortgage records of Twin Falls County, Idaho.

THE ABOVE GRANTORS ARE NAMED TO COMPLY WITH SECTION 45-1506(4)(a), IDAHO CODE. NO REPRESENTATION IS MADE THAT THEY ARE, OR ARE NOT, PRESENTLY RESPONSIBLE FOR THIS OBLIGATION.

The default for which this sale is to be made is being the failure to comply with the terms of Deed of Trust Note dated May 25, 1983, and modified by Modification Agreement dated March 15, 1984, by Modification Agreement dated September 4, 1984, and by Modification Agreement dated April 10, 1985, wherein the principal balance was due and payable on June 1, 1985. Grantor has failed to pay said balance and by reason of said default, the Beneficiary declares the entire principal balance in the amount of $34,500.00 now due; plus property taxes for the year 1984, of which the second half is delinquent; plus accumulated late charges; plus any other costs or expenses associated with this foreclosure. The accrued interest is at the rate of Prime plus 2%, and the balance owing as of this date on the obligation secured by said deed of trust is $34,500.00 plus accrued interest at Prime plus 2% from July 25, 1985.

Dated October 4, 1985.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE

On Thursday, the 6th day of March, 1986, at the hour of 3:00 p.m., of said day, in the office of TitleFact, Inc., located at 163 Fourth Avenue North, Twin Falls, Twin Falls County, Idaho, STEWART TITLE OF IDAHO, INC. (formerly known as Chicago Title Company of Idaho), an Idaho corporation, as substituted successor trustee; will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, for cash, in lawful money of the United States, all payable at the time of sale, the following described real property, situated in the County of Twin Falls, State of Idaho, commonly known as Wirsching Avenue, Route 4, Twin Falls, Idaho, and described as follows, to-wit:

Lot 2, Block 3, CARTER SUBDIVISION, Twin Falls County, Idaho, according to the official plat thereof, recorded in Book 9 of Plats, Page 1, records of Twin Falls County, Idaho.

The Trustee's sale shall be made pursuant to the power of sale conferred in the Deed of Trust to satisfy the obligation secured thereby. Said sale will be made without covenant or warranty regarding title, possession or encumbrance. The Deed of Trust referred to herein was executed by Joe Reyes and Maria Reyes, as Grantors, to Title and Trust Company, as original Trustee, for the benefit and security of Equitable Savings and Loan Association, now known as The Benj. Franklin Federal Savings and Loan Association, as Beneficiary, recorded September 15, 1972, as Instrument No. 640087, Mortgage records of Twin Falls County, Idaho. The aforesaid original Trustee has resigned as Trustee, and STEWART TITLE OF IDAHO, INC. has been appointed as successor Trustee, pursuant to Appointment dated October 1, 1985, recorded October 11, 1985, as Instrument No. 889380, records of Twin Falls County, Idaho. THE ABOVE GRANTORS ARE NAMED TO COMPLY WITH SECTION 45-1506(4)(a), IDAHO CODE. NO REPRESENTATION IS MADE THAT THEY ARE, OR ARE NOT, PRESENTLY RESPONSIBLE FOR THIS OBLIGATION.

The default for which this sale is to be made is failure to make principal, interest and tax and insurance reserve account payments as set forth on said Deed of Trust and Promissory Note, due on the 5th day of each month, in the amount of $211.90 per month, for the month of February, 1985, and in the amount of $220.42 for the months of March through September, 1985, inclusive, and thereafter until the date of sale or reinstatement. The original loan amount was $21,150.00 with interest due thereon at the rate of 7.75% per annum until default and then at the rate of 10%, as evidenced by Promissory Note date September 13, 1972. Principal balance due as of September 5, 1985, is $16,995.98.

The balance owing as of September 5, 1985, on the obligation secured by said Deed of Trust is $18,455.77, including principal, interest, late charges, and escrow advance payments, but excluding costs and expenses actually incurred in enforcing the obligations under the above-mentioned Deed of Trust or in connection with this sale, as trustee's fees and/or reasonable attorney's fees, as authorized in the Promissory Note secured by the aforementioned Deed of Trust.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE OF SALE

On Tuesday, the 4th day of February, 1986, at the hour of 11:00 a.m. of said day, at the front entrance of the office of Title and Trust Company, an Idaho corporation, herein referred to as "Title and Trust", 311 Second Street North, Twin Falls, Idaho Title and Trust will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, lawful money of the United States, all payable at the time of sale, the following described real estate situated in Twin Falls County, State of Idaho, to-wit:

The North 76 feet of Lot 1 of Paris Subdivision, Twin Falls County, Idaho, according to the plat thereof recorded in volume 7 of Plats, page 50, records of said county.

Street address is 445 Madrona, Twin Falls, Idaho

Said sale will be made without covenant or warranty regarding title, possession, or encumbrances, to satisfy the obligation secured by and pursuant to the power of sale conferred in the deed of trust, executed on the 26th day of January, 1978, by DANIEL S. JACOBSEN and E. MARIE JACOBSEN, husband and wife, as grantors, Title and Trust Company, an Idaho corporation, as trustee, for the benefit and security of Idaho Bank & Trust Co., as beneficiary, recorded on the 31st day of January, 1978 as Instrument No. 729834, Book 212, Twin Falls County, Idaho.

Foreclosure is being effected because of default in the payment of the obligation due and owing from the grantors to Idaho Bank & Trust Co., beneficiary, and evidenced by a promissory note, which said obligation is secured by the said deed of trust. Said default, as of the date of the notice of default, consists of the failure to pay the installments of $207.93 due on June 1, 1983 and on the first day of each month thereafter, failure to pay late charges, and failure to pay insurance and tax reserves, as required by the deed of trust, and as itemized in the notice of default. The total delinquency as of the date of the notice of default is $1,094.88; exclusive of continuing installments of principal and interest, tax and insurance reserves, late charges, and expenses of foreclosure which have accumulated and will accumulated from the date of the notice of default - which was recorded in the records of Twin Falls County on September 12, 1985 as Instrument No. 887897.

That by reason of said default, the beneficiary of said deed of trust has, in the Notice of Default and Election to Sell, declared all sums secured by said deed of trust immediately due and payable. The aggregate principal amount as evidenced by said promissory note and secured by said deed of trust is the sum of $26,596.32, together with accrued interest on said principal amount at the rate of 7.75% per annum for each day after May 1, 1985, until paid, late charges and the costs and expenses of foreclosure. The total sum due and owing as of the date the notice of default was filed is $27,428.28, exclusive of costs and expenses. Continuing assessments for interest, late charges, and costs and expenses shall also be added to the balance due.

INVITATION TO BID

PROJECT: FREEZER BUILDING, TWIN FALLS SCHOOL DISTRICT #411.

Sealed bids will be received by Twin Falls School District #411, at the district offices, 201 Main Ave. West, Twin Falls, Idaho until 10:00 A.M. prevailing standard time on Friday, November 1, 1985 to construct a freezer building at 1138 Highland Ave. E., Twin Falls, Idaho. Contractors/Subcontractors who submit bids on this work must be a licensed Public Works Contractor in the specialty bid at the time bids are submitted. All bids received at or before the times set above will be opened and publicly read aloud immediately thereafter at the place stated for the receipt of bids. Bids received after the time fixed above will not be considered and will be returned to the Contractor unopened.

The Contract for Construction will be awarded on the basis of base bid and selected alternate(s). Work will be awarded under one contract and will include all work necessary for the complete installation of the freezer building.

Plans, Specifications, Form of prescribed Contract and related Bid Documents may be examined at the office of JENSEN RATZLAFF AND UNRAU, 200 S. Main, Pocatello or UNRAU & ASSOCIATES, ARCHITECTS, in the First Interstate Plaza Building, Twin Falls, Idaho. A set of said documents may be obtained at the office of the Architect upon deposit of $40.00. The plan deposit will be returned to actual bidders and qualified subcontractors provided the plans and specifications are returned in good condition within fourteen (14) days after bid opening. All bid documents are the property of the Architect and must be returned.

Each bid shall be accompanied, by a cashiers check, bidders bond or certified check in the amount of five percent (5%) of the total amount of each bid, made payable to the Twin Falls School District #411. The contract shall be completed within the time specified or liquidated damages of $100.00 per calendar day shall be assessed, for failure to complete the contract by the specified date. The Owner reserves the right to reject any and all bids and waive any informality which is deemed to be in the best interest of the School District. No bidder may withdraw his bid after the hour set for opening unless and until the award of bid is delayed for a period exceeding thirty (30) days.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE

On Friday, the 10th day of January, 1986 at the hour of 10:30 o'clock A.M. of said day, at the main front door of the Twin Falls County Courthouse located at Shoshone St. and 4th Ave. Street in Twin Falls, County of Twin Falls, State of Idaho,

PIONEER TITLE COMPANY OF ADA COUNTY as trustee, will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, for cash, in lawful money of the United States, all payable at the time of sale, the following described real property, situated in the County of Ada State of Idaho, and described as follows, to-wit:

Lot 11 in Block 67 of TWIN FALLS TOWNSITE, Twin Falls County, Idaho, according to the official plat thereof, recorded in the Office of the County Recorder of said County.

Said sale will be made without covenant or warranty regarding title, possession or encumbrances to satisfy the obligation secured by and pursuant to the power of sale conferred in the deed of trust executed by JOHN T. ALTMAN, a single man to Titlewest of Twin Falls, as trustee, for the benefit and security of CITICORP PERSON TO PERSON FINANCIAL CENTER OF IDAHO, INC., recorded March 22, 1979, as Instrument No. 755371 in Volume at page, Mortgage records of Twin Falls County, Idaho.

The default for which this sale is to be made is failure to:

make principal and interest payments as set forth on Deed of Trust Note secured by said Deed of Trust. The original loan amount was $18,000.60 with interest thereon at the rate of 16% per annum as evidenced by Note dated March 20, 1979. Monthly payment of $264.37 is due for April, 1985 and each and every month thereafter continuing until date of sale or reinstatement. All delinquent payments are now due and payable along with all costs and fees associated with this foreclosure and the balance owing as of this date on the obligation secured by said deed of trust is $14,062.76 plus accruing interest.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

Notice is hereby given by the Planning and Zoning Commission for the City of Twin Falls, Idaho, that a Public Hearing will be held at the hour of 7:30 o'clock, P.M., on the 12th day of November, 1985, a Tuesday, in the Council Chambers, City Hall, located at 321 Second Avenue East, Twin Falls, Idaho, upon the petition for hearing for revocation of the authorization granted to Keith Sligar and Rick Olander to place portable asphalt hot plant equipment on property located on Addison Avenue West (approximately ½ mile west of Grandview Drive) and legally described as follows:

A tract of land located in Section 7, T. 10 S., R. 17 E., B.M., described as follows:
Beginning at the ¼ corner of Sections 7 and 18, same being the southwest corner of the SW¼ SE¼ Section 7;
THENCE north 73.4 feet on the west line of the SW¼ SE¼;
THENCE east 150.0 feet parallel to the south line of the SW¼SE¼;
THENCE north 222.1 feet parallel to the north and south centerline of Section 7;
THENCE east 85.0 feet parallel to the south line of Section 7;
THENCE south 295.5 feet parallel to the north and south centerline of Section 7;
THENCE west 235.0 feet parallel to the south line of the SW¼ SE¼ of Section 7 to the Point of Beginning.

The authorization was granted by the Twin Falls City Community Development Director on May 30, 1985, to allow portable asphalt hot plant equipment to be placed on the property with the condition that no permanent structures relating to the asphalt hot plant be erected.

The public hearing for revocation of the authorization was initiated by a petition submitted on October 18, 1985, by Alvin Allen on behalf of 28 residents who oppose the operation of the asphalt hot plant at that location.

It is alleged that the asphalt hot plant has caused a significant change in the use of the property which does adversely impact neighboring developments.

Any and all persons desiring to comment may appear and be heard at the appointed time and place.

The decision of the Commission shall be final unless within fifteen days of the Commission's action an appeal is filed with the City Council. On Appeal, a Public Hearing will be scheduled before the City Council.

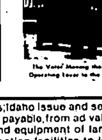
CITY OF TWIN FALLS, STATE OF IDAHO, GENERAL MUNICIPAL ELECTION DATE NOV. 5, 1985



The Voter Moving the Red Operating Lever to the Right

Each candidate's voting lever is located just above the name; a voting lever must be turned down over the name of the candidate for whom you wish to vote. Leave voting lever down.

The machine is so arranged that you can turn down only the proper number of voting levers for each office.

No votes are registered until the curtain lever is moved to open the curtain, and so you can make as many changes as you desire while the curtain lever is at the right side.

No one will know how you have voted because the movement of the curtain lever returns the voted voting levers to the unvoted position before the curtain begins to open.

Attention, Voters!

Familiarize yourself with this diagram and directions for operating the voting machine. It will assist you in voting and save time on election day.

The Northwest Quarter (NW¼), and the North-half of the Southwest Quarter (N½SW¼) Section 36, Township 9 South, Range 20 East, B.M., containing 240 acres, more or less. Subject to State of Idaho Easement No. 51 for a railroad. APPRAISED PRICE: $41,280.00, plus lessee improvement credit for fence in the amount of $1,647.00. Any additional lessee improvement credit will be announced on day of sale.

No one individual, company, or corporation may purchase more than 320 acres of public school or in-lieu school land from the State. This 320-acre limitation upon purchase of these endowment lands in an absolute, not an annual limit. Any individual, company, or corporation intending to bid at this sale will be required to sign an affidavit to the effect that they have not exceeded this acreage limitation by previous purchases from the State, nor will they if they are the successful bidder at this sale. Also, that they are not attempting to make any such purchase for, or on behalf of, any person, company, or corporation which will, if the purchaser, exceed the 320-acre limitation. Those contemplating bidding on this sale may determine their status on this matter by contacting the Boise office of the Department of Lands at least seven days prior to the sale date.

TERMS OF SALE

This land to be sold as one unit as listed above, and no bid of less than the appraised price will be accepted.

Purchaser will be solely responsible for access to the land. The State assumes no responsibility for providing access to the land being sold.

The State of Idaho will not accept bids from any person, party or corporation who at the time of sale is delinquent with payment on existing State contracts.

One tenth (1/10) of the purchase price and interest at Nine and One-half (9½%) on balance of principal for remainder of year, cash on day of sale, balance in Twenty (20) annual installments at Nine and One-half (9½%) interest, (certified checks or postal money orders acceptable as cash for 10% of appraised value: Personal checks accepted for any amount due over and above 10% of appraised value). Annual installments are due at the beginning of each year with both principal and interest payable in advance.

Each bidder is required to make a deposit with the selling agent in the amount of 10% of the appraised value of the land at or before the time of making his first bid, as a guarantee that if he is the successful bidder he will execute with the State of Idaho a contract for the purchase of said land according to the terms under which it is offered in the advertisement for sale by the State of Idaho. Should the successful bidder fail to complete a contract for purchase of these lands, the full amount of said deposit will be immediately declared forfeited to the State of Idaho, without further action on the part of the State, as liquidated damages for such failure to complete the sale.

All deposits of unsuccessful bidders will be returned on day of sale. Purchaser will pay advertising costs in one newspaper in-full on day of sale. Lessee's Improvements to be paid for in-full on day of sale.

All mineral rights, including sand, gravel, pumice and all Geothermal Resources are reserved to the State of Idaho.

All sales are made subject to any valid interfering rights which may have existed prior to date of sale except those for which allowance is made herewith.

The State of Idaho expressly disclaims the accuracy of the acreage specified in this unit.

BY ORDER OF THE STATE BOARD OF LAND COMMISSIONERS.

State of Idaho
Transportation Dept.
NOTICE OF PROMULGATION OF PROPOSED NEW RULE ID TRANSPORTATION DEPARTMENT

In accordance with Section 67-5203, Idaho Code notice is hereby given that the Idaho Transportation Board intends to promulgate the following new rule under authority of Sections 67-5202, 49-405 and 49-409, Idaho Code:

Rule No. 39.01.32.19 - Registration and Titling of Motor Vehicles Manufactured in the United States.

The rule governs the processing and issuance of registration and titles of imported motor vehicles manufactured for sale in a country other than the United States. The rule prevents a noncomplying vehicle from being registered or titled in Idaho unless safety and emission standards are met. The rule does allow for temporary registration for up to six months.

In accordance with Section 67-5203, Idaho Code notice is hereby given that the Idaho Transportation Board intends to promulgate the following new rule under authority of Sections 49-409 and 49-434, Idaho Code:

Rule No. 39.01.32.20 - Motor Vehicle Registration Procedures When Department is Unsatisfied as to Ownership or Security Interests.

The new rule provides for temporary registration of a vehicle when ownership is in doubt. The rule does not apply to licensed Idaho dealers, nonresidents, or owners and/or operators of commercial and noncommercial vehicles operated in interstate commerce under the various proportional registration plans or agreements with other states.

In accordance with Section 67-5203, Idaho Code notice is hereby given that the Idaho Transportation Board intends to promulgate the following new rule under authority of Sections 49-102b, 49-127B and 49-127(d), Idaho Code:

Rule No. 39.01.32.21 - Proportionally Registered Vehicles are Required to Pay Use Fee.

The rule clarifies that commercial vehicles registered under Section 49-147B, Idaho Code, are required to pay use fee under Section 49-127(d), Idaho Code.

Interested parties may review the proposed rule of the Idaho Transportation Department at 3311 West State Street, Boise, Idaho. A public hearing will be held, if requested, by the requisite number of persons or organizations. Written comments may be mailed to the Executive Assistant to the Idaho Transportation Board, PO Box 7129, Boise, Idaho 83707. Oral comments may be made to Herb Kinney, Vehicle Services Manager, at 334-3938, or at Room 124, 3311 West State Street, Boise, Idaho between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m., Mountain Time, Monday through Friday. Comments will be received until November 1, 1985.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE OF SALE

On Tuesday, the 4th day of February, 1986, at the hour of 11:00 a.m. of said day, at the front entrance of the office of Title and Trust Company, an Idaho corporation, herein referred to as "Title and Trust" 311 Second Street North, Twin Falls, Idaho Title and Trust will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, lawful money of the United States, all payable at the time of sale, the following described real estate situated in Twin Falls County, State of Idaho, to-wit:

The North 76 feet of Lot 1 of Paris Subdivision, Twin Falls County, Idaho, according to the plat thereof recorded in volume 7 of Plats, page 50, records of said county.

Street address is 445 Madrona, Twin Falls, Idaho

Said sale will be made without covenant or warranty regarding title, possession, or encumbrances, to satisfy the obligation secured by and pursuant to the power of sale conferred in the deed of trust, executed on the 26th day of January, 1978, by DANIEL S. JACOBSEN and E. MARIE JACOBSEN, husband and wife, as grantors, Title and Trust Company, an Idaho corporation, as trustee, for the benefit and security of Idaho Bank & Trust Co., as beneficiary, recorded on the 31st day of January, 1978 as Instrument No. 729834, Book 212, Twin Falls County, Idaho.

Foreclosure is being effected because of default in the payment of the obligation due and owing from the grantors to Idaho Bank & Trust Co., beneficiary, and evidenced by a promissory note, which said obligation is secured by the said deed of trust. Said default, as of the date of the notice of default, consists of the failure to pay the installments of $207.93 due on June 1, 1983 and on the first day of each month thereafter, failure to pay late charges, and failure to pay insurance and tax reserves, as required by the deed of trust, and as itemized in the notice of default. The total delinquency as of the date of the notice of default is $1,094.86, exclusive of continuing installments of principal and interest, tax and insurance reserves, late charges, and expenses of foreclosure which have accumulated and will accumulated from the date of the notice of default which was recorded in the records of Twin Falls County on September 12, 1985 as Instrument No. 887897.

That by reason of said default, the beneficiary of said deed of trust has, in the Notice of Default and Election to Sell, declared all sums secured by said deed of trust immediately due and payable. The aggregate principal amount as evidenced by said promissory note and secured by said deed of trust is the sum of $26,596.32, together with accrued interest on said principal amount at the rate of 7.75% per annum for each day after May 1, 1985, until paid, late charges and the costs and expenses of foreclosure. The total sum due and owing as of the date the notice of default was filed is $27,428.28, exclusive of costs and expenses. Continuing assessments for interest, late charges, and costs and expenses shall also be added to the balance due.

NOTICE OF SALE
FORECLOSURE OF DEED OF TRUST
ON REAL PROPERTY

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on Monday the 10th day of February, 1986, at the hour of 11:00 o'clock a.m. of said day at the office of First American Title Company, 1136 Blue Lakes Boulevard, Twin Falls, Idaho, Archie W. Service, member of the Idaho Bar, as trustee, will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, for cash, in lawful money of the United States, all payable at the time of sale, the following described real property, situated in the County of Twin Falls, State of Idaho, and more particularly described as follows:

Lot 14 in Block 11 of Bickel Addition, Twin Falls County, Idaho, according to the plat thereof, recorded in Book 3 of Plats, page 19, records of said County.

Said sale will be made without covenant or warranty regarding title, possession or encumbrances, to satisfy the obligations secured by and pursuant to the power of said sale conferred in the Deed of Trust executed by Read R. Reams, et. ux., whose given name is Inez Reams, husband and wife, as Grantor, to Archie W. Service, member of the Idaho Bar, as Trustee, for the benefit and security of H & N Wholesalers, an Idaho corporation, d/b/a Norman Supply, recorded on the 23rd day of March, 1982, as Instrument Number 818670 in Book Number 216 of Mortgages of the official records of the County Recorder of Twin Falls County, Idaho.

The default for which said sale is being made is as follows:

Grantor's failure to make the required monthly payments for January, 1984, and every month thereafter, said payments for each month being the amount of $300.00, resulting in a balance due as of June 30, 1985, in the sum of $8,232.84, plus interest, costs and fees accruing thereafter.

Notice of default and election of sale under said Deed of Trust was recorded on the 17th day of September, 1985, in Book 219 as Instrument Number 888171 official records of the County Recorder of Twin Falls County, State of Idaho.

The sum due and owing on said obligation, to-wit:

The principal loan balance of $7,516.88 as of April 30, 1983, plus accrued unpaid interest in the amount of $715.96 for a total of $8,232.84 as of June 30, 1985, with interest accruing thereafter at the rate of 13% per year, together with attorney's fees, trustee's fees and costs of foreclosure.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE

On Friday, the 10th day of January, 1986 at the hour of 10:30 o'clock A.M. of said day, at the main front door of the Twin Falls County Courthouse located at Shoshone St. and 4th Ave. Street in Twin Falls, County of Twin Falls, State of Idaho, PIONEER TITLE COMPANY OF ADA COUNTY as trustee, will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, for cash, in lawful money of the United States, all payable at the time of sale, the following described real property, situated in the County of Ada State of Idaho, and described as follows, to-wit:

Lot 11 in Block 67 of TWIN FALLS TOWNSITE, Twin Falls County, Idaho, according to the official plat thereof, recorded in the Office of the County Recorder of said County.

Said sale will be made without covenant or warranty regarding title, possession or encumbrances to satisfy the obligation secured by and pursuant to the power of sale conferred in the deed of trust executed by JOHN T. ALTMAN, a single man to Titlewest of Twin Falls, as trustee, for the benefit and security of CITICORP PERSON TO PERSON FINANCIAL CENTER OF IDAHO, INC., recorded March 22, 1979, as Instrument No. 755371 in Volume at page, Mortgage records of Twin Falls County, Idaho.

The default for which this sale is to be made is failure to:

make principal and interest payments as set forth on Deed of Trust Note secured by said Deed of Trust. The original loan amount was $18,000.60 with interest thereon at the rate of 16% per annum as evidenced by Note dated March 20, 1979. Monthly payment of $264.37 is due for April, 1985 and each and every month thereafter continuing until date of sale or reinstatement. All delinquent payments are now due and payable along with all costs and fees associated with this foreclosure and the balance owing as of this date on the obligation secured by said deed of trust is $14,062.76 plus accruing interest.

Dated September 6, 1985.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

Notice is hereby given by the Planning and Zoning Commission for the City of Twin Falls, Idaho, that a Public Hearing will be held at the hour of 7:30 o'clock, P.M., on the 12th day of November, 1985, a Tuesday, in the Council Chambers, City Hall, located at 321 Second Avenue East, Twin Falls, Idaho, upon the petition for hearing for revocation of the authorization granted to Keith Sligar and Rick Olander to place portable asphalt hot plant equipment on property located on Addison Avenue West (approximately ½ mile west of Grandview Drive) and legally described as follows:

A tract of land located in Section 7, T. 10 S., R. 17 E., B.M., described as follows:

Beginning at the ¼ corner of Sections 7 and 18, same being the southwest corner of the SW¼ SE¼ Section 7;

THENCE north 73.4 feet on the west line of the SW¼ SE¼;

THENCE east 150.0 feet parallel to the south line of the SW¼SE¼;

THENCE north 222.1 feet parallel to the north and south centerline of Section 7;

THENCE east 85.0 feet parallel to the south line of Section 7;

THENCE south 295.5 feet parallel to the north and south centerline of Section 7;

THENCE west 235.0 feet parallel to the south line of the SW¼ SE¼ of Section 7 to the Point of Beginning.

The authorization was granted by the Twin Falls City Community Development Director on May 30, 1985, to allow portable asphalt hot plant equipment to be placed on the property with the condition that no permanent structures relating to the asphalt hot plant be erected.

The public hearing for revocation of the authorization was initiated by a petition submitted on October 18, 1985, by Alvin Allen on behalf of 28 residents who oppose the operation of the asphalt hot plant at that location.

It is alleged that the asphalt hot plant has caused a significant change in the use of the property which does adversely impact neighboring developments.

Any and all persons desiring to comment may appear and be heard at the appointed time and place.

The decision of the Commission shall be final unless within fifteen days of the Commission's action an appeal is filed with the City Council. On Appeal, a Public Hearing will be scheduled before the City Council.

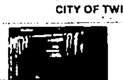
1. Move the Red Operating Lever to the Right.
2. Turn down a Voting Pointer over the name of each candidate you wish to vote for. LEAVE THE POINTERS DOWN.
3. Turn Down the Voting Pointer over your choice of how you wish to vote on the GENERAL OBLIGATION BOND.
4. To vote for PERSONS NOT NOMINATED, lift slot covers at top of machine above positions and WRITE IN NAMES.
5. Move the Red Operating Lever to the Left.

SAMPLE BALLOT

CITY OF TWIN FALLS, STATE OF IDAHO, GENERAL MUNICIPAL ELECTION DATE NOV. 5, 1985



The Voter Moving the Red Operating Lever to the Right

Each candidate's voting lever is located just above the name; a voting lever must be turned down over the name of the candidate for whom you wish to vote. Leave voting lever down.

The machine is so arranged that you can turn down only the proper number of voting levers for each office.

No votes are registered until the curtain lever is moved to open the curtain, and so you can make as many changes as you desire while the curtain lever is at the right side.

No one will know how you have voted because the movement of the curtain lever returns the voted voting levers to the unvoted position before the curtain begins to open.

Attention, Voters!

Familiarize yourself with this diagram and directions for operating the voting machine. It will assist you in voting and save time on election day.

STATE LAND SALE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the following described tract of land belonging to the State of Idaho and situated in Jerome County will be offered for sale at public auction at the Jerome County Courthouse, Jerome, Idaho; on Thursday, November 7, 1985; 2:00 P.M.

PLEASE NOTE— Only Cash, Certified Checks or Money Orders Accepted for Deposit of 10% of Appraised Value. (Deposit necessary in order to be Qualified Bidder). No Personal Checks Accepted for this Deposit.*

PARCEL 328-84

The Northwest Quarter (NW¼), and the North-half of the Southwest Quarter (N½SW¼) Section 36, Township 9 South, Range 20 East, B.M., containing 240 acres, more or less. Subject to State of Idaho Easement No. 51 for a railroad. APPRAISED PRICE: $41,280.00, plus lessee improvement credit for fence in the amount of $1,647.00. Any additional lessee improvement credit will be announced on day of sale.

No one individual, company, or corporation may purchase more than 320 acres of public school or in-lieu school land from the State. This 320-acre limitation upon purchase of these endowment lands in an absolute, not an annual limit. Any individual, company, or corporation intending to bid at this sale will be required to sign an affidavit to the effect that they have not exceeded this acreage limitation by previous purchases from the State, nor will they if they are the successful bidder at this sale. Also, that they are not attempting to make any such purchase for, or on behalf of, any person, company, or corporation which will, if the purchaser, exceed the 320-acre limitation. Those contemplating bidding on this sale may determine their status on this matter by contacting the Boise office of the Department of Lands at least seven days prior to the sale date.

TERMS OF SALE

This land to be sold as one unit as listed above, and no bid of less than the appraised price will be accepted.

Purchaser will be solely responsible for access to the land. The State assumes no responsibility for providing access to the land being sold.

The State of Idaho will not accept bids from any person, party or corporation who at the time of sale is delinquent with payment on existing State contracts.

One tenth (1/10) of the purchase price and interest at Nine and One-half (9½%) on balance of principal for remainder of year, cash on day of sale, balance in Twenty (20) annual installments at Nine and One-half (9½%) interest, (certified checks or postal money orders acceptable as cash for 10% of appraised value. Personal checks accepted for any amount due over and above 10% of appraised value). Annual installments are due at the beginning of each year with both principal and interest payable in advance.

Each bidder is required to make a deposit with the selling agent in the amount of 10% of the appraised value of the land at or before the time of making his first bid, as a guarantee that if he is the successful bidder he will execute with the State of Idaho a contract for the purchase of said land according to the terms under which it is offered in the advertisement for sale by the State of Idaho. Should the successful bidder fail to complete a contract for purchase of these lands, the full amount of said deposit will be immediately declared forfeited to the State of Idaho, without further action on the part of the State, as liquidated damages for such failure to complete the sale.

All deposits of unsuccessful bidders will be returned on day of sale. Purchaser will pay advertising costs in one newspaper in-full on day of sale. Lessee's improvements to be paid for in-full on day of sale.

All mineral rights, including sand, gravel, pumice and all Geothermal Resources are reserved to the State of Idaho.

All sales are made subject to any valid interfering rights which may have existed prior to date of sale except those for which allowance is made herewith.

The State of Idaho expressly disclaims the accuracy of the acreage specified in this unit.

BY ORDER OF THE STATE BOARD OF LAND COMMISSIONERS.

State of Idaho
Transportation Dept.
NOTICE OF PROMULGATION OF PROPOSED NEW RULE ID TRANSPORTATION DEPARTMENT

In accordance with Section 67-5203, Idaho Code notice is hereby given that the Idaho Transportation Board intends to promulgate the following new rule under authority of Sections 67-5202, 49-405 and 49-409, Idaho Code:

Rule No. 39.01.32.19 - Registration and Titling of Motor Vehicles Manufactured in the United States.

The rule governs the processing and issuance of registration and titles of imported motor vehicles manufactured for sale in a country other than the United States. The rule prevents a noncomplying vehicle from being registered or titled in Idaho unless safety and emission standards are met. The rule does allow for temporary registration for up to six months.

In accordance with Section 67-5203, Idaho Code notice is hereby given that the Idaho Transportation Board intends to promulgate the following new rule under authority of Sections 49-409 and 49-434, Idaho Code:

Rule No. 39.01.32.20 - Motor Vehicle Registration Procedures When Department is Unsatisfied as to Ownership or Security Interests.

The new rule provides for temporary registration of a vehicle when ownership is in doubt. The rule does not apply to licensed Idaho dealers, nonresidents, or owners and/or operators of commercial and noncommercial vehicles operated in interstate commerce under the various proportional registration plans or agreements with other states.

In accordance with Section 67-5203, Idaho Code notice is hereby given that the Idaho Transportation Board intends to promulgate the following new rule under authority of Sections 49-102b, 49-127B and 49-127(d), Idaho Code:

Rule No. 39.01.32.21 - Proportionally Registered Vehicles are Required to Pay Use Fee.

The rule clarifies that commercial vehicles registered under Section 49-147B, Idaho Code, are required to pay use fee under Section 49-127(d), Idaho Code.

Interested parties may review the proposed rule of the Idaho Transportation Department at 3311 West State Street, Boise, Idaho. A public hearing will be held, if requested, by the requisite number of persons or organizations. Written comments may be mailed to the Executive Assistant to the Idaho Transportation Board, PO Box 7129, Boise, Idaho 83707. Oral comments may be made to Herb Kinney, Vehicle Services Manager, at 334-3938, or at Room 124, 3311 West State Street, Boise, Idaho between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m., Mountain Time, Monday through Friday. Comments will be received until November 1, 1985.

Dated this 4th day of October, 1985.

PARCEL 329-84

The Northwest Quarter of the Northwest Quarter (NW¼NW¼), and pt. of the Southwest Quarter of the Northwest Quarter (SW¼NW¼) Section 28, Township 10 South, Range 25 East, B.M., containing 53.81 acres, more or less. Subject to State of Idaho Easement No's. 4045 and 2207-A. APPRAISED PRICE: $7,533.00. Lessee will have 90 days from date of sale to remove fences. Any additional lessee improvement credit to be announced on day of sale.

TERMS OF SALE

This land to be sold in one unit as listed above, and no bid of less than the appraised price will be accepted.

The State of Idaho will not accept bids from any person, party or corporation who at the time of sale is delinquent with payments on existing State contracts.

One tenth (1/10) of the purchase price and interest at Nine and One-half (9½%) on balance of principal for remainder of year, cash on day of sale, balance in Twenty (20) annual installments at Nine and one-half (9½%) interest, (certified checks or postal money orders acceptable as cash for 10% of appraised value. Personal checks accepted for any amount due over and above 10% of appraised value). Annual installments are due at the beginning of each year with both principal and interest payable in advance.

Each bidder is required to make a deposit with the selling agent in the amount of 10% of the appraised value of the land at or before the time of making his first bid, as a guarantee that if he is the successful bidder he will execute with the State of Idaho a contract for the purchase of said land according to the terms under which it is offered in the advertisement for sale by the State of Idaho. Should the successful bidder fail to complete a contract for purchase of these lands, the full amount of said deposit will be immediately declared forfeited to the State of Idaho, without further action on the part of the State, as liquidated damages for such failure to complete the sale.

All deposits of unsuccessful bidders will be returned on day of sale. Lessee's improvements to be paid for in-full on day of sale.

All mineral rights, including sand, gravel, pumice and all Geothermal Resources are reserved to the Sate of Idaho.

All sales are made subject to any valid interfering rights which may have existed prior to date of sale except those for which allowance is made herewith.

The State of Idaho expressly disclaims the accuracy of the acreage specified in this unit.

BY ORDER OF THE STATE OF LAND COMMISSIONERS.

THE ACES®

BOBBY WOLFF

"I would rather worry without need than live without heed."
— Beaumarchais.

How quickly can you count today's winners at four spades? A heedless player counts 11; a worrier finds a way to score 10.

South ruffed the third diamond and congratulated himself for stretching on to reach the spade game. His was not the picture-perfect hand to bid again over North's three clubs.

Quickly he started trumps from the top, hoping to pick up the suit without loss (a 3-3 split or a doubleton jack). When West discarded on the third trump, South was in trouble. He tried to run the clubs, but East ruffed and exited with his last diamond. South ruffed-and lost two more heart tricks, sending the game two down.

South can assure his game if he settles for 10 tricks instead of shooting for 11. After ruffing the third diamond, South should lead a low trump toward dummy. East wins his jack early, but the defense is stymied. South can win any return (a diamond can be ruffed in dummy), draw trumps and claim all five club winners in dummy for game and rubber.

BID WITH THE ACES

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
2 ♥	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
3 ♦	Pass	4 ♠	All pass

Opening lead: Diamond king

ANSWER: Four spades. North's forcing rebid asks South to define his hand further. South's good single raise justifies the jump to game.

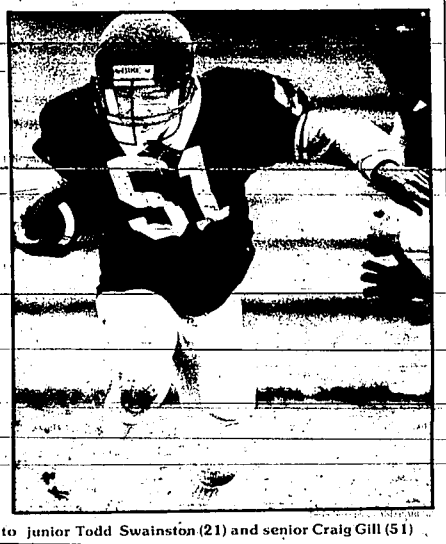
Reaping Rich(field) rewards

Backs play sweet duet in Tigers' backfield

By JERRE FENDER
Times-News correspondent



Richfield has reaped over 1,600 yards this year thanks to junior Todd Swainston (21) and senior Craig Gill (51)

RICHFIELD — For Richfield's Rudy Miles, coaching football this year has probably been one of the best experiences of his life. To the rest of the Sawtooth Conference, the Tigers have earned a reputation of being a hard-running team that is hard to contain and harder to beat.

Two of the reasons for the Tigers' success are running backs Craig Gill, a senior, and Todd Swainston, a junior. Gill has rushed for about 600 yards and eight touchdowns, while Swainston has rolled up 1,010 yards rushing and 21 touchdowns.

"Good kids — is the way Miles describes his big-play men. "Coachable — they will listen to you."

The Tigers, 6-1 and runner-up in the Sawtooth Conference, are heading for the playoffs to take on defending state champion Council in a semifinal game on Saturday in Council.

Gill stands only 5-foot-6 and weighs 135 pounds, but as a blocker he "hits hard" and as a running back he is not afraid to go directly up the middle, Miles says. Gill has averaged six yards a carry this season, although he has played only six games because of a knee injury that kept him out of the Clark County game.

Gill's playing time hasn't come just because he goes to a small school; he was a starter on Minico High's sophomore team as well.

Camas County Coach Galen Colter attributes the Tigers' success to the effectiveness of Gill as a blocker — as well as to the outside running of Swainston.

Swainston credits at least part of his success to the fact that Gill is a gutsy blocker, especially on the Tigers' favorite play — the option. They mainly use that on the goal line stands, and so far it has worked very well for them. In fact, against Leadore, Gill caught two touchdown passes and one two-point conversion pass from Swainston. Another of their favorite plays is the sweep, with Swainston going around the end — that is the main play that Swainston made his rushing touchdowns.

Swainston is 5-8 and weighs 180 pounds and, according to Miles, is "definitely" a small-college prospect because of his good speed which his coach calls "the fastest in the league." He has amassed more than 1,200 yards total offense this season, some of it on passes out of the backfield on the option play. He averaged about 10 yards a carry and played in all the games this season.

Miles says he is the fastest 100-meter man in the league.

Even moving the linebackers outside did not slow down Richfield's offense, says Colter, and that has been the story against all of the Tigers' opponents this season.

Gill and Swainston have made the difference though not only because of the leadership, but leadership by example, Miles said. Quarterback Craig Ward, when asked if the team would have enjoyed the same success without Gill and Swainston, said, "They're the team."

The team and this entire town of 350 are excited because this is the first time in seven years that the Tigers have made it to the playoffs. And Coach Miles, in his first season at the Richfield helm, expects the Tigers' winning ways to continue for at least three more years. Not only will the young talent continue to grow, but he expects the seventh- and eighth-grade football programs to be successful because of the experience the kids get.

Bruins shoot for 4-6

Against Bees, Bruins will try to hold a lead

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News writer

IDAHO FALLS — The "oh-so-close" Bruins, doomed to a losing season by a total of nine points in four games, will shoot for a 4-6 mark Friday night when they invade Idaho Falls to meet the Bonneville Bees.

The Gem State Conference game will begin at 6 p.m., being shifted from the original schedule that had placed it on Saturday afternoon.

The Bruins, who have failed to lead in only one game this fall, can make the series record the same as their season mark with a victory. Twin Falls has lost the last two game to the Bees and trail 3-6 in the series that stretches back to 1960 with a 17-year sabbatical from 1961 through 1978.

"The Bruins will have to play well to win," says Coach Bill Jones. "I've been with the Twin Falls football program for eight years and we've played Bonneville there four times during that span. We've never won."

Bonneville comes into the game with a 2-7 record, which surprises Jones.

"I agreed with the pre-season predictors that had Bonneville a conference contender," he said. "A lot of their problem has been with injuries. They lost their fullback to a knee injury before the season started. He's been back with them for the past three years and starting to rack up some decent yardage. They also were without their quarterback for three games and that always makes a difference. I know the Bonneville staff feels they've had one of the worst years ever for injuries. They're probably about as healthy now as they have been since early September."

While both teams have a lot of common opponents, Jones said that Skyline was perhaps the best yardstick to use.

Skyline turned back a late two-point conversion pass to preserve a 28-26 win over Twin Falls after pretty well dominating the middle quarters.

Bonneville dropped a 34-22 decision to the Grizzlies last week.

"They had Skyline down 14-7 at halftime and then lost it in the third quarter when Skyline scored most of its points," Jones said. "We felt Skyline was as physical a team as we played this year and for three quarters Bonneville played them even.

"We have to establish the line of scrimmage because we are not going to throw much against their defense," he continued. "Bonneville drops their linebackers off and runs a lot of four-deep secondary. Unless you have a controlled pass team, you really can't throw shallow on them very well and we aren't a deep passing team.

"So we have to be able to run off-tackle, control the ball as much as we can and not turn it over or make mistakes. We know that Idaho Falls is a very difficult place to win a game."

Unlike Bonneville, Twin Falls goes into the game healthy and Jones remarks "it's been a remarkable year on injuries. We weren't bothered a great deal and it is refreshing in these trying times of 3-6 records to not have to worry about that."

The only other regular-season game Friday will be in Burley, where the Bobcats (2-7) will host Blackfoot (also 2-7) in a non-conference matchup at 7:30 p.m.

Jerome has ability to beat Beavers

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News writer

JEROME — Based on common opponents, the Jerome Tigers have to be favored Friday night when they host the American Falls Beavers in the opening round of the state Class A-2 football playoffs.

That kicks off at 7 p.m. at Tiger Field.

Those common opponents are Burley (which beat American Falls 28-14 in the season opener and lost to Jerome 23-10 last week) and Buhl (which handled the Beavers 36-6 and fell to the Tigers 40-18).

Jerome enters the game at 6-3 and as the District 4 champion while American Falls is 4-5 and finished second in the District 5 race.

But Jerome Coach Jon Jund cautions against understanding those scores too quickly.

"I feel there are definitely two keys," said Jund as he worked his charges out Wednesday night. "The first is to control them early, not let them get out to a lead. And the second is coupled to the first — don't let them control the ball and the clock with their power game. If they get into the lead, that's what they'll do.

"The common opponent scores don't mean much really because we're talking about four different teams here and everything changes from week to week," Jund continued. "American Falls has several ways to attack you and they can make you defend all parts of the field. They have speed in their receiving corps, a good passer and solid, durable running backs."

The speed is provided by Brad Stocking, a lanky senior who displayed his sprinting ability in the same stadium last spring by winning the 100- and 200-meter sprints in the Magic Valley Classic track meet.

"He's their deep threat on passing and they use him to try to get outside on reverses or line him up in the backfield and go with quick pitches," Jund said. "Robert Eames throws well. They used him last year when they wanted to throw. But even with Stocking and Eames, I think American Falls is more a run-oriented team. They like to line up in power and bring it at you. When they get that game going, they keep the ball with (Scott) Wright."

Jund said this will be a challenge for his linebacker corps, but noted middle backer Mike Holley showed he was ready by posting 24 tackles against Burley.

When Jerome has the ball, it will depend on what American Falls is doing.

"Defensively we don't know what to expect. They've run several alignments but apparently lean most toward the 5-2 and 5-3. If they come with that eight-man front (5-3) we'll throw the heck out of it," he promised.

"I think the major difference in our team this year from last year is everyone understands our passing game better. If a defense shows us something, our quarterback and our receivers know immediately who the hot receiver is and we get it to him. (Tight end Jim) Huber picked up six passes against Salmon and four the other night just on that one point. We've made a lot of yards on that this year."

Jund also added that if American Falls uses a lot of eight-man front, "that means they'll be in man coverage in the secondary and if they play a lot of man defense, we'll throw to Torrey Sheets all night. I don't think anyone can cover him one-on-one."

Sheets has 42 receptions for 721 yards "and he didn't play the wideout position much in the first three games," Jund said.

At the same time, however, Jund said scouting reports indicated American Falls' defensive strength lies in its secondary and defensive ends.

"That means it will be important for us to be able to run the ball inside," he said.

And that means senior Tracy Black, who has run for more than 1,000 yards and has had two nights of 190 yards or better. Black will be playing Friday night after getting a doctor's OK Wednesday afternoon. He pulled some calf muscles in the Burley game last week.

"What I'd really like is to get out

Last week: American Falls defeated Soda Springs 16-0, Jerome beat Burley 23-10.
Next week: The winner will play the winner of Saturday's playoff game between Shelley and Marsh Valley.
Coaches: Gary Garland is in his third season at American Falls (his career record available); Jerome's Jon Jund, in his 10th season as a head coach, has a record of 59-41-2.
Series: Jerome leads 1-0; the Tigers defeated the Beavers in the first round of last year's A-2 playoffs, 14-0.
Injuries: American Falls reports no major injuries. Jerome defensive tackle Mark Lee broke his jaw two weeks ago against Salmon and will not play Friday night; running back Tracy Black, who sustained a leg injury last week, will start.

Andujar's agent may appeal fine imposed by Ueberroth

By PAUL LeBAR
The Associated Press

MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL

ST. LOUIS — Joaquin Andujar's agent says he may appeal the penalty for Andujar's antics in the final game of the World Series, and Manager Whitey Herzog says he'll stick by the St. Louis Cardinals pitcher.

"I'm sure we'll want to evaluate what's going on," agent David Hendricks said of the 10-day suspension, effective at the opening of next season, and $500 fine announced Tuesday. "It's very harsh."

Baseball Commissioner Peter Ueberroth meted out the penalty, citing Andujar's outburst during a fifth-inning dispute with plate umpire Don Denkinger, followed by the pitcher's explosion in the visitor's clubhouse.

"Such actions are damaging to the game and cannot be tolerated," Ueberroth said in New York.

Andujar argued two successive ball calls by Denkinger, and after the second pitch, he charged the umpire, slightly bumping him, and had to be restrained by teammates.

An appeal is "his prerogative," Ueberroth's spokesman, Chuck Adams, said Wednesday of Hendricks' comments.

"Some people have expressed amazement that the commissioner fined him only $500," Adams said. "But there's a limit imposed on him, and the commissioner fined him to the limit."

Herzog, even before Ueberroth's penalty was announced, indicated he wants Andujar back next year although not condoning the player's actions.

Herzog also was ejected from Game 7, one pitch before Andujar. The pitcher, after leaving the field at Royals Stadium in Kansas City, Mo., reportedly destroyed a toilet and a sink with a bat in the visitors' clubhouse.

Denkinger, who ejected Andujar, said he was pleased with the fine.

"From the Cardinals' standpoint, it was a very disgraceful thing to do to the game of baseball," Denkinger said. "I don't think (Andujar) wanted to (pitch with St. Louis so far behind). But if he is not able to control his emotions, I'm going to do it for him."

Herzog said he tended to agree with Hendricks, particularly in view of Denkinger's disputed first-base call in Game 6.

Herzog also indicated Andujar's outburst stemmed at least in part the Cards pitcher's frustrations over his own performances. The 32-year-old hurler, after becoming the major leagues' first 20-game winner on Aug. 23, won only one more contest.

"I guess he won't start the second or third game now," Herzog said of the impact on St. Louis' plans for next year created by Ueberroth's announcement.

Hoops meeting set

TWIN FALLS — A basketball organizational meeting of the Magic Valley Church League is scheduled for Friday evening.

Paul DeWitt, league president, said the meeting will begin at 7 p.m. at the First Assembly of God Church on Locust Street North.

All churches interested in participating in the league during the 1985-86 season should be represented at the meeting, DeWitt said.

Iorg leaving Royals

NEW YORK (AP) — Dane Iorg of the Kansas City Royals, whose two-run pinch single in the bottom of the ninth inning won the sixth game of the World Series, filed for free agency with the Major League Players Association Wednesday.

Iorg delivered his hit with St. Louis leading 1-0 and just two outs away from clinching the world championship. The hit won Game Six 2-1 and Royals went on to beat the Cardinals 11-0 the next night to win the Series.

Hagler bout stalled

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Marvelous Marvin Hagler's defense of his undisputed middleweight title against John Mugabi will have to be postponed because Hagler had suffered a nose injury, his co-manager said Wednesday.

Goody Petronelli said Hagler had suffered cuts on the bridge of his nose Tuesday night while sparring for the scheduled Nov. 14 fight.

Petronelli, who with his brother, Pat, also trains the champion, said that three stitches were required to close a wound.

"We will still train but we won't have any contact for a good week," Petronelli said. "He needs time to heal."

The bout was scheduled for Caesars Palace in Las Vegas, Nev. Petronelli said he believed the fight would be rescheduled for Dec. 4 at Caesars Palace.

Twin raqueters win

TWIN FALLS — Gary Bratt and David March, both of Twin Falls, finished third in the men's B division at the Rocky Mountain Raquetball Doubles Championships last weekend in Cheyenne, Wyo.

Some 256 teams participated in the all-doubles tournament, which lasted four days.

Bratt and March won the third-place match on a tiebreaker, 14-15, 15-2 (11-4).

Welterweights to fight

NEW YORK (AP) — Milton McCrory and Donald Curry, a pair of undefeated welterweight champions who are eying heavier weight classes, will fight on Friday, Dec. 6 in Las Vegas, Nev., to unify the 147-pound title.

Both boxers have cleaned out their division and have nobody left to fight — except each other. And when they are done with that, both said Wednesday they will move up to the 154 and eventually the 160-pound classes.

Bruins game moved

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls High School's sophomore football game against Bonneville has been moved up to 3:30 p.m. this afternoon at Bruin Stadium.

The game was originally scheduled for tonight, but was moved up because of Halloween.

Pocatello's Highland Rams top AP state gridders ranking

The Associated Press

Three weeks ago, Pocatello's Highland High School wasn't even ranked among the elect in the Associated Press high school football poll. Now, the Rams are No. 1.

The defending state Class A-1 champions, now 7-2, did it by shutting out top-ranked and previously undefeated Meridian, 45-0, a victory so convincing that Highland rose from fifth to first. The Rams received eight of the 14 first-place votes cast and 57 of a possible 70 points.

The Warriors, 8-1, fell the the survey, but not far. They're ranked second this week, ahead of Capital, 6-2; Borah, 6-2; and Coeur d'Alene, 4-5.

In Class A-2, St. Maries settled the issue of supremacy by beating archrival Lakeland, 28-0. That made the Lumberjacks, now 9-0, the only unbeaten A-2 team in the state and vaulted them from second to first. Lakeland, 8-1, fell to third place, behind Bishop Kelly, 7-2. Shelley, 8-1, retained fourth place, followed by Marsh Valley, also 8-1.

There were very few changes in the other three classes. Homedale, 8-0, remained firmly ensconced atop the A-3 standings, following for North Fremont, 9-0; Gooding, 8-1; McCall-Donnelly, 8-1; and Sugar-Salem, 8-1.

In Class A-4, Oakley, 9-0, continued to lead the pack, followed by Mullan, 8-1, Shoshone, 8-1; Troy, 6-2; and Genesee, 7-1. Genesee dropped from second to fifth following a 46-22 loss to Troy.

In the eight-man rankings, Council, 7-0, continued to lead, followed by North Gem, 8-0; Richfield, 6-1; Salmon River, 6-2; and Garden Valley, 6-3.

Johnson helps check Bucks rally as Celtics open at home, 117-106

The Associated Press

NBA roundup

BOSTON — Dennis Johnson scored seven points in a two-minute stretch midway through the fourth quarter as the Boston Celtics checked a Milwaukee comeback and went on to a 117-106 victory over the Bucks Wednesday night in their 40th National Basketball Association home opener.

Boston built a 17-point lead early in the second half and was ahead 87-78 heading into the final quarter.

The Bucks then closed to within three points three times and trailed by just six, 98-92, when Milwaukee Coach Don Nelson was hit with two technical fouls and ejected with just over six minutes remaining.

Johnson then converted one of the two free throws awarded on the technicals and added two more foul shots.

Philadelphia 132 Detroit 125

PHILADELPHIA — Moses Malone scored 31 points, including a crucial three-point play in overtime, as the Philadelphia 76ers defeated the Detroit Pistons 132-125 in a National Basketball Association game Wednesday night.

A free throw by Detroit's Rick Mahorn brought the Pistons to within 121-118 with 1:30 left to play. But Malone then drove for a layup, was fouled and converted the three-point play with 1:14 to go.

New Jersey 147 Indiana 138

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. — Micheal Ray Richardson scored six of his career-high 38 points in the third overtime and Buck Williams added 20 points and 23 rebounds Wednesday night, lifting the New Jersey Nets to a 147-138 victory over the Indiana Pacers.

Richardson added 11 rebounds, 11 assists and nine steals in the National Basketball Association game. He also tallied nine points in the fourth quarter as New Jersey, 2-2, wiped out a 16-point deficit.

The 6-foot-5 guard, who missed a 25-foot jumper at the buzzer in regulation; opened the third overtime by hitting a 22-foot jumper from the top of the key.

Utah 102 San Antonio 100

SALT LAKE CITY — San Antonio scored only three points in the final 6½ minutes as the Utah Jazz, behind Adrian Dantley's 33 points, rallied for a 102-100 National Basketball Association victory Wednesday night.

The Spurs took a 97-88 lead with 6:40 on the clock, but all they could manage the rest of the way was three points by Artis Gilmore, who finished with 20 points, as did teammate Mike Mitchell. David Greenwood scored 17 for the Spurs.

Meanwhile, Dantley, Bobby Hansen and Jeff Wilkins were sparking the Jazz comeback.

to a good lead and put Tracy on the bench to rest. But he definitely will start because it does not good to hold him out for next week if we're not going to be there," the coach smiled, refering to the single-elimination aspects of the playoffs.

And the Burley game also convinced Jund that Jerome also will make the field goal part of its arsenal. Swedish exchange student Martin Fexby booted one that tied Burley 10-10 in the second half.

"Of course, when it came up fourth down I was still thinking touchdown," Jund admitted with a laugh. "But my fellow coaches wouldn't let me go for it and Martin drilled it. (Assistants Ben) Allen and (Joe) Mattie would have shot me. But I'll admit, Martin is fully capable of hitting anything from 45 yards on in."

Jund said Jerome was happy to welcome back defensive end Alan Louvitt, who missed the Burley game with a knee injury. His return helps offset the loss of defensive tackle Mark Lee, who sustained a broken jaw against Salmon.

"Other than that, I guess we're about as healthy as we've been."

The winner will advance against the Shelley-Marsh Valley winner in another week, probably Nov. 9 in the Idaho State University Minidome in Pocatello.

Shelley handled the Tigers 17-14 during the regular season, a game Jund said "was absolutely our poorest performance of the year. But I'm not thinking about Shelley or Marsh Valley. In playoffs, once you start thinking a week ahead, your chances of getting there grow smaller."

This week's top bowling honors choice made easy by Poe

TWIN FALLS — It didn't take the judges long to decide top honors for this week's Times-News bowling honor roll.

Karen Poe took care of that at the Magic Bowl where she carded a 744 series — believed to be the highest series ever posted in the state by a woman. Poe did it with individual games of 267, 243 and 234. The state record is believed to be a 247, according to state association officials.

But Poe didn't spend the rest of the week celebrating as she posted the best series at both Twin Falls bowling houses, heading the Bowladrome list with a 676. She also had 616 and 608 series there.

Her effort overshadowed some strong performances, like Bob Leazer's 267 game and a 697 series by Lee Akins.

Spiker squads split all-star action

By RON GATES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — East and West spikers divided the segments in the fifth edition of Magic Valley all-star volleyball Wednesday night at Twin Falls High School. The A-3/A-4 match went to the West 2-15, 15-6, 15-12, while the East A-1/A-2 contingent was victorious 15-8, 16-14.

In the opener, the East squad, piloted by Kimberly Coach Jean Emerson, scored the first six points and was never headed. Kristine Keetch of Raft River led with seven winners.

The second game was a near reversal as the westerners 6-2 offense began to jell. "Every girl on our team played either a 6-2 or 5-1 this year so we went with it.", said West mentor Joleen Toone of Gooding after the game. "In the first game we weren't talking."

The rubber match went through three ties before Camas County hitter Kami Brackenbury served in the final two aided by a dink at 14-12 by Senator hitter Joyce Jacobsen.

The larger schools East contingent rode serving from Minico's triumvirate of Debbie Ott, Shelly Duncan and Stacey Kreigh throughout game one as the Spartans combined for eleven winners in a relatively easy 15-8 win.

West mentor Jerry Sivulich's squad extended their opponents in the finale but, with the West up 10-7, Duncan served up the next three points including a pair of aces and two exchanges later Kreigh pulled the East into a tie. Barbara Haycock of Burley gave her team their first lead at 13-12 on the next possession.

Buhl's Heidi Brenden combined with Holly Woolsey of Jerome to serve the West to one last lead at 14-13 but the East blocked a kill for a side out. Wood River's Marianne Moore then closed out the game and match with consecutive aces.

They hear a call

As fall cools delta waters, steelhead swarm upstream to face fishers' nets

By MIKE HARROP
Special to the Times-News

Late each summer, Idaho's fall steelhead begin their journey out of the ocean toward the mouth of the Columbia River.

Driven by urges older than the river itself, they begin an odyssey which captures the imagination of every fisherman in the Northwest.

As they gather in the mouth, they form an immense carpet stretching out to sea. As the river cools with fall, they begin to move inland against the currents.

And as their bodies adjust to the river, steelhead begin to lose their bright ocean silver, the parasitic sea lice drop from their bodies and they begin to run a gauntlet of nets, dams and lures to return to Idaho; seeking their natal waters where they will spawn and die.

A steelhead is much more than an overgrown sea-run rainbow trout.

It is a six to 21-pound seagoing tiger with a tail like a canoe paddle; a voracious predator newly given to fasting and travel.

It is a cranky monster, jealous of its space in the riverbed and it will strike a lure in anger, kill a small trout for trespassing or lie inexplicably docile and quiet for days.

As summer glides into the slow cooling of days and the clouds of approaching autumn begin to ride high and dark, many fishermen also hear a call.

Some are drawn to the mighty rivers with names that echo their nature: the Snake, Clearwater and Salmon. With infinite patience, they search the cascading, powerful water for steelhead.

These are men and women who will wait a week for a strike that never comes, hoping for a battle with a three-ocean fish.

Steelhead are roughly classified as one, two and three-ocean fish depending upon the length of time spent in the sea.

A one-ocean fish might weigh six pounds. A two-ocean fish might weigh 15 pounds and a three-ocean fish might weigh 20.

This year, fish counts into Idaho have run around 9,500 fish per day for some time.

Because of this and because of great fishing on the lower Salmon River two weeks ago, the game commission has raised the daily bag limit to three fish per day.

However, fishermen should be aware that the Salmon and Clearwater Rivers have apparently cooled down since then, and most of the steelhead are remaining in the warmer Snake River.

Last week, fishing was poor on the lower Salmon and Clearwater, but red-hot on the Snake near Lewiston.

Unfortunately, there is so much boat traffic near Lewiston that it is hampering fishing.

Another good area has been the Salmon River between Riggins and Salmon City. Unfortunately, you'll need a jet boat or an outfitter to get into this stretch.

Fishermen should call the game department in Boise for the latest creel census information, then make a few telephone calls into the region they plan to fish to determine how fishermen did yesterday.

Generally, tackle shops and motel operators aren't to be trusted. Call the game warden, Bureau of Land Management or U.S. Forest Service office closest to the suspected hotspot before you gas up your fishing rig.

Although fishing is supposed to be red-hot all over right now, my wife and I fished the Clearwater and the Salmon each for two days without a strike. We didn't see a fish caught on either river, although a rumor was being circulated by a chamber of commerce booster that someone had caught one on the lower Salmon last weekend.

I'd describe fishing on the Snake as very good, but I fished two days for one steelhead and a huge squawfish. My wife was not as lucky. She failed to get a strike in a week of fishing, although we did see a number of fish caught.

If you've never before fished for steelhead, I advise you to spend the money for a guide or find a friend who knows how to catch the big fish for your first few efforts.

At its best, steelheading can be so slow that you won't know when you're doing things right and you are likely to change to a technique that won't catch steelhead at all.

Here are some techniques I can recommend.

• Shore fishermen have about half the success rate of boat fishermen, but I strongly advise you not to troll any of Idaho's rivers without a boat.

There are several methods oftaking steelhead from shore.

These usually vary according to time of the year. In spring and fall, sea-run rainbow trout migrate upstream, keeping to the edge of the fast water. Sand or small-grained gravel bottoms won't hold very many steelhead because they lack obstructions to break the current.

Shore fishermen can use Hot Shots in conjunction with a side planer to work the edge of the fast water or they can anchor a line with a heavy sinker and use a lure on a dropper about 18 inches above the sinker.

Spin-N-Glow bobbers are probably best for the latter method, because their built-in flotation will keep the lure and bait floating above the rocks.

Anglers also use spoons and spinners from shore, but

Making first tracks

Dave Hammond, of Ketchum, makes some of the season's first ski tracks near Galena Summit last Thursday morning. The snow at the summit was about a foot deep with drifts up to 18 inches deep. For skiing at the summit, durable skis are recommended, as the surface below the snow is frequently very rocky.

Deer misconceptions abound

Many hunters raise questions about current Region 4 options

Stu Murrell

JEROME — Deer hunters have a number of misconceptions about the deer seasons in Region 4.

I have spent two days answering questions with over 1,100 hunters going through the Mountain Home check station last weekend and thought it might be helpful to explain the options currently available to the deer hunters in Region 4 for the remainder of the season.

First, there are no general either-sex hunts remaining in Region 4 after Unit 43 closed Oct. 27. Units 39, 43, 46, 48 and 49 are still open for general bucks-only until Nov. 10.

There are several permit hunts that allow either-sex harvest, such as the antlerless ones in Unit 44 and those in Unit 45. Make sure you check your permit to see which hunt you were successful in drawing.

We had two hunters who shot illegal bucks with antlerless permits in Unit 44. Other hunters who were successful in drawing for the first hunt in Unit 54 continued to hunt after it closed on Oct. 20. Double check your dates and sex restrictions on the permit before hunting.

There was another rumor at the check station that there will be a general muzzleloader hunt in Unit 45. This is not correct. There is a permit hunt for 150 successful applicants scheduled to begin Nov. 13.

There were a number of questions concerning the possibility of special depredation hunts in Unit 35 after the regular season closed. If the commission decides a depredation hunt is needed, then those people who signed up prior to the Sept. 30 deadline on the depredation hunt sign-up list in the regulations will be contacted by phone after a drawing. If they have not used their deer tag, then they will be eligible to hunt in that special area.

There also were numerous questions concerning the special elk archery hunt that is scheduled to open Jan. 1. This hunt will require a 1986 license, tag and archery stamp. Maps showing hunt boundaries and 1986 hunting license, archery stamps and tags will be available at all regional and sub-regional offices beginning Dec. 16. The hunt will encompass only a portion of unit 45, close to farmlands at lower elevations.

Ducks Unlimited banquet date nears

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls duck hunters will have the opportunity to celebrate and perpetuate their avocation next Thursday at the annual Ducks Unlimited banquet.

The event, one of five conducted in Magic Valley to raise funds for the perpetuation of the continent's waterfowl population, is scheduled to begin with a no-host cocktail hour at 6:30 p.m. Nov. 7 at the Holiday Inn with the banquet to be served at 7:30 p.m.

The event will have its usual auction of shotguns and art along with the raffle and door prizes.

Dave Werbeck, banquet chairman, said "when it comes to conservation, there are a lot of good people out there with good intentions who would really like to make a positive difference in how wildlife is perpetuated on the continent but just don't know how to go about it."

He noted that funds raised for Ducks Unlimited have provided an "impressive habitat track record" toward that goal.

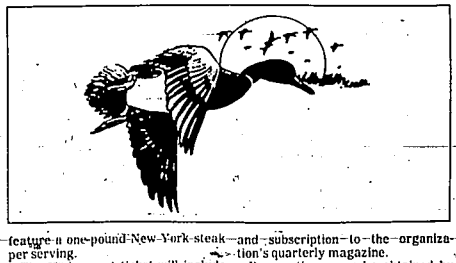
Since 1937, Werbeck said, the private, non-profit organization has constructed more than 2,400 wetland projects throughout Canada, where more than 70 percent of North America's ducks and geese are produced and where federal duck stamp dollars can't be spent.

As a result, Ducks Unlimited has reserved over three million habitat acres and created nearly 14,000 miles of crucial shoreline for waterfowl.

Werbeck said the banquet will feature a one-pound New York steak and subscription to the organization's quarterly magazine.

The $30 banquet ticket will include a membership in Ducks Unlimited per serving.

Reservations may be obtained by calling 733-1076.



Weekend either-sex deer hunt spurs congestion of shooters

JEROME — The dearth of pheasants and plethora of geese couldn't keep deer off the minds of Southern Idaho hunters last weekend — and they hit the either-sex general hunt in Unit 43 with a vengeance.

"It was a madhouse," reports Bill Webb, Region 4 supervisor for the Idaho Department of Fish and Game. "It started out fairly slow but by Sunday night it was bumper-to-bumper at Couch Summit. And a big Boise contingent came into the area. We checked over 1,100 hunters at the Mountain Home and about 625 Sunday."

Hunter success also built through the hunt, starting out at six-and-seven-percent-herd, and then building to about 30 percent as the early returners were processed earlier Sunday. As the late hunters came out, however, the success dwindled somewhat to about 19 percent overall.

The either-sex hunt was allowed by the commission to whittle down the number of winter migrants from the unit into the private lands — and haystacks — in the north Bliss-King Hill area. That area sustained considerable big game depredation last winter. The department wants the total number of wintering deer trimmed but didn't want to make a heavy impact on the lower elevation residents or the migrant Figures taken at the department-run checking stations at Gooding and Mountain Home were impressive. Some 1,875 hunters with 359 deer were checked for overall 19.1 percent success.

Randy Smith, regional biologist, said this broke down into 38 adult bucks, 49 yearling bucks, 71 buck fawns, 116 adult does, 31 yearling does and 46 doe fawns. Six others weren't categorized because of faulty information on the report sheets.

"The size of those numbers, even though it did wear out our checking station personnel processing that many hunters, will give us a good management base," Smith said. The unit had a mandatory rule requiring hunters to bring the jawbone out with the animal. Teeth were collected and these will be studied and categorized at a laboratory in the next couple of months.

"That report will give us a very good look at the age composition of the unit's total deer population," Smith said. "We will be looking particularly for an discernible impact caused by the harsh winters in three of the past four years. If we see a 'hole' in any age class, we can compare that to the winter conditions and that will help us with management plans when similar circumstances might develop again."

Smith said he didn't want to delve heavily into the number of yearling does to adult does in the harvest. "It seems low to me," he said. "It might indicate we didn't have the recruitment (production) this past spring that we'd hoped. But I don't want to say much more until more data are available."

"We already are seeing movement out of the unit toward the lower elevations," Webb said. "But so far there haven't been any complaints. We were seeing deer on ag land at this time last fall so we're hoping that the problem stays away as long as it possibly can."

Because of the great demands for checking stations and field enforcement, the department didn't have a large number of men checking goose hunters in the Minic-Cassia

The fishing was frantic, the Roseworth weather freezing

Swen

"October! The color month. The rejuvenation month. The blessed smile-and-get-outdoors month. October is April in reverse." This I threw at the frau as we drove to our last Roseworth fishing trip of the year.

"Just a little wind," was another of my quotes as we got to Rogerson. The clouds were low, the windshield had drops of rain peppering as we crossed Salmon Falls dam. The pickup and camper were rocking as I strained to keep it on the road.

As we were nearing the last hill before sighting the reservoir, all went black as night. I slowed to a crawl and sought the yellow center line. Dust storm at this area? Then I remembered the fires during the summer that laid bare the land. It was blowing 40 miles an hour and creating a dust cloud 5 miles long and 100 feet deep. As we reached the top of the last hill we saw the land was black and bare, the devastation of range fires.

With the wind blowing, we might have a chance in the central part of the lake," I commented as I glanced at the frau. I was very nervous then.

The roads around the reservoir were dry as I picked my way to a point I had fished many times before and found that new paths have been formed by those seeking rock-free paths for their vehicles. I followed one and came out smack-dab right where I wanted to be.

The temperature had dropped from a Twin Falls high 60 degrees to a mid-twenty reading. With the wind-chill factor, we were going to freeze our buns. Ah, the foolishness of fishermen. Two other rigs were parked along the waters edge. At at least one other fool was fishing.

"Won't need a sinker," I yelled over the wind. "The breeze will take it out as far as we need."

"Breeze?" the frau muttered, but gamely donned her foul-weather gear and beat me in making the first cast.

She laid her pole down on a nearby rock and headed for the safety of the pickup. "Bite," she indicated, and the first fish was shored and released.

In the two miserable hours (as long as we could stand the weather), the two of us caught and released over 30 fish. Most were 8 to 12 inches, but the frau ran to the camper with two beauties. "I don't care" she says, "I'm keeping these." As a defiant gesture of my catch-and-release policy.

It was as if we were fishing in a fish hatchery, every cast a fish.

New products on the market for outdoor advocates include a photovoltiac power unit for motor homes and trailers.

Many predict these will help to rid the campsites of the noisy generators we start up in our quiet campgrounds. It is mounted on the top of your rig and can keep your batteries charged, by using the energy of the sun.

Another product you can't do without is a solar powered hat. It will keep your head cool or warm, and includes a battery pack, just in case the sun is not shining. It comes in two models, the helment type, at $69.95 and the baseball cap, at $29.95.

Cleaned and oiled the reels last week. I find that if you are a novice, don't take the reels apart. I loosen some of screws on the working parts and clean as well as I can. Then I save empty 3" pans and find that all have just a little that won't drain from the can. Use a toothpick to apply a drop to each working part. Works a lot better than your commercial lubricants designed for the job. Cheap, too.

To clean up my fiberglass poles, I use Armor All, the commercial product used for cleaning your car. Works like a charm. I clean the pole first with detergent and water, dry and apply the Armour All. Do not use much, a squirt on a paper towel is sufficient.

A recent column keeps my head bowed. I mentioned that the ladies were the answer to the used diaper problem. "Feminist!" was the charge. I mentioned that four-wheelers can't stay on roads. "Killjoy," was the charge. I mentioned that a writer friend stole a lot of his writing material. "Thief", was the charge. I closed the fishing season in Hagerman one month too soon. "Dumkoff" was the charge.

Almost enough to throw away my 60 year-old writing machine.

But I like this letter from Betty Clark, formerly of the Swisher clan here in Idaho. She resolved not to listen to any band with more than two guitars and one sound system. Bring on the flutes and trumpets.

Ada poachers fined

BOISE — Fines and penalties totaling $2,100 have been levied against two Ada County men for sportlighting and possession and waste of four illegally taken deer, according to enforcement special operations officer Bruce Bertwell, Department of Fish and Game.

Senior conservation officers Jeff Copeland and Roger Olson issued the citations. Their investigation revealed that the deer had been poached in Elmore and Camas counties Sept. 26, Bertwell said.

Fourth district magistrate Earl T. Whitman Jr., ordered the defendants to pay $800 in civil penalties — $200 for each deer — plus $1,300 in fines and court costs.

In addition, Whitman revoked hunting privileges for one offender for three years and imposed a three-year revocation of hunting and trapping privileges on the other. Both were placed on probation for two years, court records showed.

The two have a prior record of nine citations for fish and game violations, Bertwell said.

Poacher hotline rings

BOISE — With hunting seasons in full swing, the Citizens Against Paching hotline recorded 114 reports of possible fish and game violations during the first 23 days of October, compared with 22 calls in all of the previous month.

Sixteen citations have been issued as a result of the calls and other reports are being investigated by Department of Fish and Game conservation officers.

CAP's hotline log showed that 69 of the suspected violations in October involved deer and elk and other possible illegal activities took in upland game, migratory birds, moose, bear, antelope and fish.

The tll-free line, 1-800-632-5999, is staffed from 8 a.m. until midnight each day and the extended hours will continue through mid-December.

Rewards of as much as $500 are offered if a call results in a citation and the caller's identity is protected. Rewards paid or offered total more than $125,000 since the program was initiated in January, 1981.

Stamp deadline hits

BOISE — A traditional deadline hits today — the Oct. 31 cutoff for the general sale of archery and muzzle loader stamps, which are required by department of Fish and Game Regulations for archery-only and muzzle-loader only hunts.

An exception to the cutoff, however, allows those with permits for archery and muzzle loader seasons to purchase stamps at department offices through the final day of their particular hunt.

Children who become 12 years old after Oct. 31, persons who have attained six-month residency and Idaho servicement on leave may also get permits at department offices after the cutoff.

Limited edition prints of the stamps may be purchase but they are not valid for hunting. After Jan. 1, unsold stamps are available for purchase at department offices.

Ranchers blast hunts

ST. ANTHONY (AP) — Ranchers in northeastern Idaho are a little unhappy about this fall's hunting season. That's because several say hunters have been blasting away at livestock instead of deer and elk.

It isn't anything new; area ranchers say their losses always mount during the fall hunting seasons. But this year, it hurts a little more. Operating expenses are up, cattle prices are down. It doesn't take many losses to eliminate profits.

"It doesn't take much of that to take the profit out of the thing," says Errol W. Tibbitts, a Rigby rancher who grazes some cattle in the Teton Basin.

Fremont Sheriff Terry Thompson describes the crime as one of opportunity. He doesn't specifically blame hunters, but says when the area is inundated by people driving into remote areas in four-wheel drive vehicles or pickup trucks, it's easier for rustlers to come in.

Over a recent weekend, he estimated up to 3,000 hunters were in the vast desert north of St. Anthony, and he doesn't have the manpower to watch them all.

Ranchers, range specialists say SNRA stream plans poor

STANLEY (AP) — The U.S. Forest Service is considering several options to improve degraded stream banks in the Sawtooth National Recreation Area, but cattle producers and a University of Idaho range specialist say none of the proposed solutions are adequate.

The Forest Service has been under intense public and commercial pressure to improve salmon habitat and survival rates in the area. The Idaho Department of Fish and Game has said populations of both wild and hatchery fish are being hurt by cattle feeding along stream banks on a 65,000-acre Forest Service grazing allotment in the SNRA.

But long-time Challis rancher Tom Chivers and other cattlemen contend grazing had little to do with the decline in salmon habitat. They blame the problem instead on the construction of eight dams on the Salmon River.

"I can remember twice as many cattle and hundreds of thousands of fish before the dams were built," Chivers said.

But whatever their role, cattlemen are being asked to be part of the solution by either reducing or prohibiting grazing along degraded stream banks.

That isn't setting well with ranchers, who are investigating the possibility of setting up an informal range stewardship committee to mediate their differences with the Forest Service.

The options currently being studied by the agency include taking no action; limiting livestock use on the steamsides to 30 percent what it is now until sufficient recovery occurs; and a method called "adjustment with mitigation," such as fencing, prescribed burning or seeding.

"Hopefully, we're not going to get too wrapped up with this fencing," said Lynn Burton, SNRA range conservationist. "That's not the answer, although some of it is inevitable where cattle naturally concentrate."

Forest Service fishery biologist Bill Platts, who is studying 70 sites in 21 areas in Idaho, Nevada and Utah, said he believes cattle can graze safely on every streamside in those three states with proper management. "But we're going to have to do it right," he said.

"There are two truisms here," Platts said. "One, with good riparian management, we will have cattle grazing; and two, none of the cattle producers has to get hurt."

Harvey Forsgren, forest fishery biologist for the Sawtooth National Forest, said he understands the cattle producers' side, but that specific legislation allows grazing only if it doesn't substantially impair production of salmon.

"People are used to business as usual on the national forest, but it shouldn't be business as usual on the national recreation area," Forsgren said.

Platts said livestock grazing can harm streams and their banks by changing, reducing or even eliminating vegetation. It can alter channels by changing sedimentation patterns and the rate and timing of streamflows, and it can increase water temperatures and populations of both beneficial and undesirable bacteria, he said.

and Hagerman areas for that opening weekend.

"It appears we had a good number of hunters participate in the opener at those two sites but it wasn't a zoo. We had warnings from people in both areas that there was going to be a slaughter of geese by armies of hunters but our men didn't find it that way. In fact, one expressed surprise at how few appeared to be in the Mini-Cassia area. A lot of fields had hunters but it didn't appear we had the problems they've had on Camas prairie with four and five hunting parties setting up decoys in one field.

In other hunting news, Webb said pheasant harvest continued to be spotty.

"In some areas it's pretty bad, in others pretty good. But I think an indication came last weekend when we had great weather but the number of pheasant hunts out in the field appeared well down. That usually happens when word gets around that a species is hard to come by," he said.

He said chukar hunting appeared to be holding up pretty well in units 46 and 47, the Jarbidge area.

"We hear those hunting the area are getting a few although none has reported seeing a great number of birds. It is a pretty remote area and not many people are very familiar with it," Webb said.

He said waterfowl remained at a low ebb, only locally-produced birds providing any action. The usual arrival of the vanguard of winter migrants is two to three weeks away, depending on weather.

Park may open areas this winter

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK, Wyo. (AP) — Yellowstone National Park officials are thinking of opening the Canyon Village and Grant Village areas to winter use, park planner Bob Brockwehl said Friday.

The consideration is part of an overall review of Yellowstone's winter use policies, he said.

The growing increase in the number of winter visitors to the nation's oldest park spurred the review. In the early 1970s winter visits annually totaled about 40,000, but during the winter of 1981-82 more than 104,000 tourists trekked to Yellowstone, officials say.

Now, Brockwehl said, about 4 percent of the park's annual use comes during the winter months.

The planner said a draft of the use plan, which should be ready to release to the public for comment by March, looks at additional areas that could be opened.

"We're thinking about which areas should be opened for winter use. That's the principal problem that should be considered for the future," he said. "The principal constraint is the existing facilities that can be winterized. Most of them are not winterized. The one's that have been used at Old Faithful and Mammoth (Hot Springs) have been winterized to some extent."

Brockwehl said there really isn't a need for additional winter lodging. When Mammoth Hot Springs opened for the winter three years ago it added 130 units to the 90 available at the Old Faithful complex, he said.

"That was a sizeable increase," he said.

Along with considering what facilities might be opened, the review also looks at which roads might be opened to automobile traffic and the regulation of visitor use to avoid impacts on vegetation and wildlife.

Since 1965 snowmobilers have used the park's road network, but Brockwehl said not all of the roads are being used and so some might be closed.

A 17-mile stretch of road between Canyon and Tower Junction has received little use, he said. There also has been talk of opening 21 miles of road between Mammoth Hot Springs and Norris to automobiles, said Brockwehl.

Still another aspect under review is the park's fall and spring closing and opening dates.

Steelhead

lose many of them. Unless you're fishing very close to the bottom, you won't catch steelhead.

Spoons and spinners hang up on the rocky bottoms preferred by steelhead.

• Boat fishermen have a much easier time.

Generally, a boat should be small enough to carry to the river from the road but big enough to go through a rapid in an emergency.

For my money, that means a 14-foot boat or a huge canoe, like my 19-foot Grumman.

Motors should be on the small side. I use a 7 1/2-horse outboard, but many steelheaders get by with four or five horsepower. At the other end of the picture, I know one man who uses a 20-horse motor, but he tows up to four buckets alongside his boat to keep his speed down.

Two methods of boat fishing are generally employed for steelhead.

In the fall, water temperatures are warmer and steelhead will take a Hot Shot or similar lure fished from a boat.

Wise steelheaders move the boat slowly from side to side, moving downstream only when an area has been covered.

Drift fishing usually requires a motor to run to the head of a hole. A bait or lure is rigged behind a pencil-lead sinker and cinch.

But after that, the motor is shut off and enough line is let out to keep the pencil sinker and lure on the bottom. Generally, drift-fishing is less productive than fishing Hot Shots in warm water because you aren't fishing when you run your boat back up river to drift down again. In addition, boats scare steelhead. A lot of fast boating will keep the fish from striking your lure at all.

Drift fishing is more productive in cold water though, because the fish go very deep and find relatively still water while they wait for warmer temperatures.

The current will carry you downstream while your lure works the fish-holding structures.

Some bait fishermen like to anchor and still-fish really good spots with fresh eggs or shrimp.

However, I don't recommend that you ever anchor a boat in fast water, because the combined action of the tight line and your boat's tendency to swing from side to side can work the anchor in too deeply to be pulled up again.

Under certain circumstances, an anchor can also overturn a boat in strong current.

Some drift boats and canoes can be used to float through runs on long stretches of river, and are not generally run against the current, except under oars or paddles while using trolling lures, such as Hot Shots.

Grandeur, beauty make Montanan trout worth ordeal

By CHARLIE MEYERS
The Denver Post

WEST YELLOWSTONE, Mont. — Majesty hangs over this country thick as early morning fog, a seeming excess of grandeur that transcends the tallest tale old Jim Bridger could ever have conjured up.

Truth can be more lustrous than fiction.

It begins with a rush of a thousand waterfowl wings at daybreak, a growing thunder whose visual manifestation is a tapestry of wakes etched deeply into the placid surface of Hebgen Lake. When the ducks are gone, the big lake is still again; the principal objects of an angler's wonder lurk unseen beneath an eerie calm.

Later, great splashes are heard from the mist, which even now has taken on the coral hues of dawn. Brown trout are on the prowl, and a fisherman's heart thumps wildly beneath layers of wool and goose down. The magic hour is fast approaching.

A mother otter struggles to lift a sizable fish upon a sheet of ice spreading across an oxbow bay and three kits scramble hungrily behind her. The success of this skilled fisher is encouraging, but not conclusive. There is much to be said for local knowledge.

From somewhere out in the murk comes the plaintive call of a Canada goose, a signal quickly answered at some vague point down the lake, then echoed in stereo by a dozen other reedy voices.

Through all this, a chill that is both deep and enduring hangs over the land. The sign on the building back in town had flashed the sobering news: Minus three degrees and holding. Fingers already have begun their undeniable protest through rag wool mittens and, after a single cast, the tiptop guide of a spinning rod is so clogged with ice that the line no longer can pass through. Three more casts and the reel spool itself has formed a minor iceberg that clutches the monofilament like glue. There is nothing gentle about autumn fishing in southwest Montana, including the trout that live here. Especially the trout.

The calm is broken by a splash, then a shout of excitement, more splashing and, finally, a murmur of satisfaction. The first brown trout of this expedition is estimated, more or less accurately, at three pounds, a size that proves to be neither exceptional nor insignificant.

In the big lakes of the upper Madison River drainage, trout grow long and thick. The state record for browns, 29 pounds, was taken two decades ago from Wade Lake. The record rainbow, nine pounds less, came from Cliff Lake a half mile away. Lunkers of both species are routinely extracted from Hebgen, the giant impoundment on the Madison just a short cast from one of West Yellowstone's 45 motels.

But the real wonder of it all is that, on an autumn week when big trout activity is at its peak, a group of Coloradans did not see one other fisherman on any of these lakes.

There is activity enough on the Madison itself; it often is necessary to take a number for a position on such popular holes as the Barns or the Baker, where fly fishermen from all over the nation congregate to flail the surface with dry flies and streamers, battling the cold, cold waters.

Our little group, however, has come to catch trout. Large ones. To do so, it is necessary to work those two periods of the day when browns shed their own constraints and ease into shallow water to feed. On the tail of an arctic storm, there is a certain delicious agony in the endeavor. Both human appendages and equipment take considerable beating from the cold. Hands, feet and reels cease to function, yet the ordeal is more than worth it.

Morning and evening, the reward for enduring with a floating Rapala in Hebgen's shallows is several browns apiece, most from two to four pounds, an occasional specimen weighing in at five.

Once, as the sun's first rays light the fog like a Chinese lantern, there is a huge splash just down the shore. A graphite rod is bent near double to the throb of what one angler terms a TV fish, one so large that its splash sounds like a television set being dropped from an airplane. Two jumps later, the line goes slack.

The first shouted exclamation is of surprise, the second of dismay, the third of anger. Finally, there is a low moan of purest despair. The trophy of a lifetime is lost.
